The Stand Rebel Sympathizers Take upon the Slavery Question.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Tuesday, June 14, 1864.

La Presse is publishing an interesting series of reviews on the present events in the United States, based on the following works issued since the war began: "A Picturesque Voyage in the Grand Deserts of the New World," by the Abbé DOMENECH; "Paris in America," by Professor LABOULAYE; "The United States of America in 1863," by JOHN BIGELOW; "Letters on the United States of America," by Lieut.-Col. FERRI-PISANI; "The United States in 1861," by GEORGE FISCH; "Six Thousand Leagues by Steam," by MAURICE SAND; "Campaign of the Potomac," by the Prince DE JOINVILLE; "The American Union," (translated from the English,) by JAMES SPENCE; "Slavery in its Connexion with the American Union," by AUGUSTUS CARLIER; "The Uprising of a Great People," by AGENOR DE GASPARIN; "America Before Europe," by the same; "The Abolition of Slavery," by AUGUSTUS COCHIN. To this long list the reviewer might have added "Stations in North America," by M. DU HALLAY, the two volumes of M. OSCAR COMMETTANT, and a host of minor productions of the brochure order, of more or less merit. But these furnished an ample text for a complete review of the whole ground, and in one of his chapters the writer in the Presse, M. OCTAVE GIRAUD, says:

"What is the difference between the North and the South? It is the difference between free and slave labor. From the moment there shall no longer be any but free labor in all the Republic, there will no longer be any North or South, there will be nothing but the Republic of the United States. It is therefore Slavery which prevents the Union, and Slavery once destroyed there is no longer any reason for dissolving the Union. There will not thereafter be any more domination by the South than by the North, it will then be a domination of the United States. Public opinion in England is coming back more and more from its partiality for the rebellion. The book of Mr. SPENCE, which at first contributed toward troubling public opinion, has also very much contributed toward enlightening it, when the hour of reflection was able to take the place of passion. In France, public opinion still hesitates because the Government itself seems to hesitate. Nevertheless the old sympathy of France for the United States is not destroyed and ought to revive. Writers of great merit urge on this revival, which will be also the revival of good sense. M. EDWARD LABOULAYE, among others, has a right to feel proud of the sympathy of America, which calls him, with justice, 'the most American of Frenchmen.' We have been diverted a little out of the way of truth; but in France we are sure to find again the right track. With us the head loses itself often, but the heart not less often brings it back again. There might be, at the present moment, a motive for making us all embrace the cause of the North—a complete triumph on the field of battle. Our heads are so turned at the present moment that an accomplished fact would appear to us immediately as a triumph of the right. We should thus be on the side of right without wishing it, and perhaps without knowing it. * * * The civil war has given to the United States the occasion for disclosing an unknown strength, a strength which excites surprise and admiration. This people were in the habit of astonishing us with their agricultural, industrial and commercial prosperity; they now surprise us by their prodigies of military heroism. Merchants, arid of dollars, become lions suddenly on the field of battle. In the North and in the South more than a million of men take up arms. The North forgets for the moment its habits of traffic; the South its habits of idleness. Peace had been fertile in the invention of agricultural and industrial machines; war has proven not less fecund in the invention of formidable engines of destruction. The South constructed the Merrimac, and the North opposed to it the Monitor; naval warfare was transformed and changed its physiognomy. Walls no longer protect fortresses. Europe had its rifled and its Armstrong guns; the Americans surpass Europe and use guns of 200, which carry to a distance unknown heretofore. We may regret that the human mind should waste such a wonderful power in murderous inventions, but such a power of invention nevertheless does it honor. The United States had no army, and hundreds of thousands of volunteers rise up at the moment of danger. It might be said that America was transported suddenly to the France of 1792. These armies discipline themselves and make long and difficult campaigns. Young generals rise up as vehement in the attack as prudent in the retreat. Victories and reverses succeed each other, but valor is everywhere equal. The troops of the South have more of the character of disciplined men, those of the North have especially the character of free men. On one side we see dominating the influence of a military Government, on the other side that of a civil Government. If the rebellion should succeed, the South, I believe, will have to submit to the despotism of the sword; the North, even in maintaining an army, will preserve a free Government. The triumph of the Union alone can guarantee the United States against the dangers of a standing army. * * * Are we approaching the end of that terrible struggle, from which Europe suffers almost as much as America? It would be risking too much to attempt to prophecy when the fortunes of war are so capricious. But the triumph of the Union appears probable, and, if we consider the interests of civilization, it is desirable. Two Generals worthy of each other—GRANT and LEE—now stand face to face. If the Union is reconstructed, the material development of the United States will resume its course, associated this time with a moral development. With the Union all the social guarantees are consolidated: liberty of the press, individual liberty, political liberty. The Union is public instruction spreading over all minds like an immense light; it is the unity of religious teachings in their bearing on the morality of principles; it is labor disengaged from servility, and sanctified as the most useful and the most noble of duties; it is Justice, holding for all the scales of equality, and it is also the equality of the human race by the association of emancipated negroes; it is, in a word, the consolidation of Democratic institutions, and for the entire world an example of civilization, of grandeur and of prosperity, by the great principle of liberty. The antithesis of the New World bringing about the triumph of a new civilization will no longer be regarded as a figure of rhetoric, but a glorious truth!"

The diplomatic correspondence relating to the House resolution on Mexican affairs has been published here by the journals; and the Ministerial papers, as might have been expected, make out of it a humiliating back-down on the part of our Government. Thus, for example, the Constitutionnel says:

"This resolution of the American Congress is well and duly buried. It was born with éclat, and has terminated miserably. We can only felicitate the American Senate for the good sense it has shown in repudiating this impolitic proposition."

The other Ministerial papers treat the affair in the same tone, and leave their readers to believe that the American Government, if not favorable, is at least not hostile to the "deplorable events" now taking place in Mexico. The liberal writers, on the contrary, who understand the working of the republican system of government in the United States, and who therefore comprehend the full meaning of the words contained in the first part of Mr. SEWARD's dispatch to Mr. DAYTON, to the effect that the people of the United States are unanimously opposed to the change of government in Mexico, appreciate this correspondence in quite a different light. There is not so much finesse in the Secretary's dispatch but what any one who will can understand it.

MESSRS. JEFF. DAVIS, ERLANGER & Co. have just been tried and convicted before a Paris Court for burning the cotton of French citizens at New-Orleans at the time the city was taken by Gen. BUTLER. That is to say, certain commercial men at Paris and New-Orleans who owned cotton among that which was burned at that time under the orders of the Confederate authorities, have attempted to force ERLANGER & Co., the takers of the Confederate Loan at Paris, to pay them for their losses out of this loan. The French tribunal decided that the plaintiffs could neither seize the money in the hands of Messrs. ERLANGER, nor have recourse upon Gov. MOORE, of Louisiana, (whom the plaintiffs drew into their case in order to give it as many points of seizure as possible,) but that they must look to JEFF. DAVIS and his Secretary MEMMINGER for damages, and that since the Confederates had been recognized as belligerents by the French Government, the question was one entirely of diplomacy, and had nothing to do in civil tribunals. Thus, although JEFF. DAVIS and Company are condemned, so also the plaintiffs are condemned to receive nothing. Messrs. ERLANGER & Co., acting under the advice of the Confederate agents at Paris, have made great efforts to obtain this decision in the form uttered, because otherwise there would have been such a run of claimants of all kinds on this Confederate Loan as to have materially weakened its force.

Let me give the Government a warning. When the war commenced, no Southern man thought of denying that Slavery was the cause of the war. Soon, however, it was discovered that for foreign purposes it was absolutely necessary to deny that Slavery had anything to do with the war, and that the quarrel was all about the tariff and other local questions. Our foreign enemies, who are all opposed to Slavery, easily adopted this theory, because they desired some escape for their consciences, and now they have repeated so often the lesson which has been taught them that they really believe it to be true. Having fixed this point, the secession propagandists now go a step further, and it is to this point I wished to call attention. They now proclaim that Slavery, by the effect of this immense and prolonged war, is practically destroyed. So that when they come to the point of again asking for mediation or a recognition, and are asked to take some step for the abolition of Slavery, they will be prepared to say that Slavery is practically destroyed by the effect of the war, that therefore no legislation is required on the subject, and they hope that by keeping the idea constantly before the public that the European Governments will get finally to viewing the question in the same light, and that therefore they will not press the subject of legislation as preliminary to a recognition. The idea is not a bad one by any means. Our secession friends have certainly had plenty of time to prepare all their diplomatic coups, but we hope Gen. GRANT will not give them much more.

The Alabama, as you will see, has come into the port of Cherbourg for repairs; an effort is making, however, to induce the French Government to refuse her what she demands. We ought not to expect that this effort will succeed.

The French iron-clad frigates Solferino, Magenta and Couronne, have been ordered immediately to change their armament and to hold themselves ready for sea—it is supposed for Tunis. They are to carry rifled guns of 30 and 50 and four mortars of 0.80 centimetres. The Couronne is to carry of the rifled guns twenty pieces of thirty and sixteen pieces of fifty, making in all forty guns of heavy calibre.

MALAKOFF.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

The steamship Cahawba, JOHNSON, New-Orleans 26th inst., at 6 P. M., and the Bar at 5:30 P. M., with sick and wounded soldiers to U. S. Assistant Quartermaster, arrived here early yesterday morning.

OUR WOUNDED AT SABINE CROSS-ROADS.

From the New-Orleans True Delta, June 21.

On Saturday last, about three hundred and fifty of the wounded from the battle of Sabine Cross-Roads, arrived in this city, under the charge of Drs. SADLER and WILLIAMS—these were the survivors of those left on the field after the fight—these medical officers remaining at the field hospitals with their men, a most commendable and praiseworthy act, especially as they had ample opportunity to escape. They sent their horses to the rear with wounded soldiers. Out of five hundred left on the field, one hundred and sixty died: this great mortality was owing to the fact that all the slightly wounded escaped.

The Surgeons speak favorably of the kindness of the rebels. And we desire to bear testimony to the thoughtfulness of Gen. BANKS, who sent a supply of medical and sanitary stores by flag of truce immediately after the second day's fight; and to the magnanimity of Gen. DICK TAYLOR, who promptly delivered them to the Surgeons, and permitted them to bring away all that remained, when he paroled the wounded. This was a generous act, that would not have been done at Richmond, and leads us to notice the fact that humanity decreases as one advances toward the rebel Capital. We believe that, as a rule, whenever our prisoners have fallen into the hands of the regular rebel army in Louisiana, they have been fairly treated. Exceptions have occurred to this rule, but they have been mostly either by guerrillas, or by stragglers and detached parties from the main army, where the Commander-in-Chief had no means of preventing the crime.

We now only speak of white soldiers—the same statement will not hold good when applied to our negro troops. Lists both of the dead and the living are, we believe, in the hands of JAMES B. CHADWICK, special agent for the Cincinnati branch of the Sanitary Commission, from whom those having friends reported as "missing" in that battle may obtain information.

Dr. SADLER informs us that DICK TAYLOR has been or will be relieved in a few days. He will take a higher command, and is to be succeeded by Gen. WALKER. No change of importance has been made in the rebel force, save the detachment of a few regiments to aid PRICE.

THE PRIZE STEAMER ISABEL.

From the New-Orleans Era, June 21.

The steamer Isabel, which was brought some two or three weeks ago to the Quarantine Station, is one of the most notorious blockade-runners of the Gulf. Her Captain, BLAKE, now confined at Fort Jackson, brags of having broken the blockade twenty times; and her crew, some twenty in number, for men of their class, are desperate, well educated, smart, but unprincipled men. The steamer, while being chased, was fired upon several times, and her iron hull it seems was perforated in one or two places. This fact was unknown to the prize officer who had the vessel in charge, and while the Isabel was lying out at quarantine, being from Havana, she suddenly settled down, and is now under ten feet of water.

The United States Prize Commissioner has taken every possible means to recover the vessel and cargo, and there cannot be a doubt but his most sanguine hopes will be realized, though the cargo and vessel of course will be much damaged. The Isabel it is said was built in the Brooklyn navy-yard, and she has the very best engines ever placed in a steamer.

A REBEL COTTON AGENT.

From the New-Orleans Era, June 21.

A rumor, apparently well authenticated, reaches this city, that Major A. W. MCKEE, Chief of the Confederate Cotton Bureau for purchasing cotton, located at Alexandria, has been arrested by Gen. TAYLOR, and is now confined in prison at Shreveport, for his complicity with Federals in cotton transactions, which took place in the months of April and May last, at Alexandria. Also, that SAM. LAWSON, well known in this city, clerk to MCKEE, is under arrest at Houston, Texas, for complicity in the same transactions, and that all of Major MCKEE's papers and contracts were seized on the person of LAWSON, and that an exposure will be made highly illustrative of the morality of cotton speculators.

FEARFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

A Train on the Grand Trunk Railroad Runs off a Bridge.

ST. HILAIRE, C. E., Wednesday, June 29.

The emigrant train, consisting of eleven cars, went over Beloid bridge this morning, with 354 German emigrants on board.

8:15 A. M.—Thirty-four bodies have been recovered, and between thirty and forty taken out more or less badly injured.

The train from Quebec has been delayed in consequence.

One car has not been sufficiently reached to allow the dead to be taken out from it.

The engineer went down with his engine, but escaped with slight injuries. A dreadful responsibility appears to rest on this man for violating the standing order to stop before going on the bridge.

The depth of the water where the accident happened is about ten feet.

The conductor, THOMAS FINN, is killed; the fireman is also supposed to be killed.

St. Hilaire is about nineteen miles from Montreal.

The Kentucky Democratic State Convention.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Tuesday, June 28.

The Kentucky Democratic State Convention met this morning, and was largely attended.

Hon. C. A. WICKLIFFE was appointed permanent President.

Nine Vice-Presidents and three Secretaries were also appointed.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the people are the supreme sovereigns, and the Constitution which they have ordained is the supreme Government, and that all assailants and enemies either of the people or of their Government are traitors alike, whether their treason be manifest by suppressing free elections, by chaining the press, by establishing political bastiles, or by ridiculing or repudiating the observance of the oath to uphold, protect and defend the Constitution.

Resolved, That in the interpretation of the Constitution we are guided by the declarations of its authors, by the deliberations of the Federal Convention, by the resolutions of 1798 and 1799, prepared and expounded by JEFFERSON and MADISON, and by the decisions of the Supreme Court; and guided by these lights we declare that the coercion and subjection of eleven or more sovereign States was never contemplated as possible or authorized by the Constitution, but was pronounced by its makers an act of suicidal folly, and if the people of the United States would have restored their shattered Constitution, and avoid from themselves and their posterity the slavery of a military despotism and a public debt, the interest upon which can never be met, they must bring this war to a speedy close; and that the revocation of all unconstitutional edicts and pretended laws, and an immediate armistice and a National Convention, for the adjustment of our difficulties, are the only means of saving our nation from unlimited calamity and ruin.

Resolved, That the Administration now in power has attempted to strike down State sovereignty. It has interfered with the right of suffrage reserved to the powers and control of State Legislatures. It has deprived citizens of their lives, liberties and property without due process of law. It has placed the military above the civil power, against the spirit of free government; and the President has unblushingly proclaimed that the Constitution he has solemnly sworn to support to be no longer of any force or effect whenever he may determine it should be disregarded. The party in power have deluded the people into the granting of men and money to their unrestricted control, for the pretended purpose of preserving the Government, which they have used and are still using for the base end of overthrowing State institutions, advancing mere party interest, and establishing them in permanent and despotic power.

Resolved, That a free press, free speech, free ballot, freedom of religion, and the right of habeas corpus, to protect the personal liberty of every citizen, are the essentials of a free Government, and a free people will maintain them at all hazards.

Resolved, That we are uncompromisingly opposed to the elevation of the African race to citizenship, and their formation into standing armies to control the white free men of our country.

Resolved, That the overthrow of the arrogant and corrupt party in power should be a primary object of every freeman, and that we, a portion of the citizens of Kentucky, in Democratic State Convention assembled, do declare it to be our duty, as well as that of all good citizens, to defeat the election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN and ANDREW JOHNSON to the offices of President and Vice-President of the United States.

Resolved, That delegates from this convention be appointed to the National Democratic Convention to be held in Chicago, Ill., and that we pledge our united effort to the support of the nominees of said convention.

Resolved, That a committee be and are hereby appointed a Democratic Central Committee for Kentucky, with power to fill all vacancies that may occur and to call future conventions, and to make any reasonable adjustment by which all the opponents of the present Abolition Administration can be united in the support of one electoral ticket, and with general powers to act for the best interests and success of the party we represent.

Maine Union State Convention.

AUGUSTA, Me., Wednesday, June 29.

The Union State Convention met in this city to-day for the nomination of a candidate for Governor and two Presidential Electors at large. The meeting was fully attended and harmonious in its proceedings.

Resolutions were adopted indorsing the war policy of the National Government; declaring that no compromises should be made; that the war should be prosecuted until full submission is yielded to the Constitution and the legal authorities of the nation; expressing entire confidence in ABRAHAM LINCOLN and ANDREW JOHNSON—declaring that they should be enthusiastically supported for President and Vice-President of the United States; indorsing the Baltimore platform, and expressing gratitude and sympathy for our heroic soldiers.

Fire Engine Sent to the Army of the Potomac.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, June 29.

With the consent of Gen. GRANT, the Christian Commission has sent to City Point, from Baltimore, steam fire engine No. 4, for the purpose of forcing water from the James River to the hospitals, a distance of one mile from the river. Some of the hospitals are located at such a distance from the river as to cause great difficulty in obtaining water for the patients. Several thousand feet of hose were also sent with the engine. WESLEY SHAW, Assistant Engineer of the Baltimore Fire Department, MIKE DUNN, the Engineer, and JAMES HALL, Assistant Engineer of No. 4, accompany the engine.

General Grant Confident of Success.

Severe Lack of Water for the Army.

The Effect of Palmer's Raid in North Carolina.

TORPEDO EXPEDITION IN VIRGINIA.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 29.

Latest advices from Gen. GRANT's headquarters report only such occasional skirmishing and artillery practice as inevitably result from the close proximity of the two forces. The chief enemy our soldiers have had lately to combat are the heat and dust, which have been of the most malignant character. For thirty days not a drop of rain has fallen, making a drouth of a duration unparalleled in that region for many years. It is with the utmost difficulty that men and animals get even a scanty supply of water.

Gen. PALMER's raid from Newbern on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad seems to supply a perfect explanation of the recently reported march of rebel troops from LEE's army into North Carolina, on which such absurd speculations have been based.

Gen. HANCOCK yesterday morning resumed command of the Second Army Corps.

On Friday last, Acting Master STREET, of the flotilla, obtained information that there were a number of guerrillas on the Peninsula, between Rappahannock and Piankatank rivers, engaged in making torpedoes, which were to be placed in the rivers, and accordingly on that night he landed with thirty men and proceeded over the country some ten miles, capturing six persons, and among whom was a Confederate Captain and a physician, whom he brought off to his vessel.

Our Forces in Possession of the Weldon Railroad—Sharp Skirmishing Nightly—The Attack on Sheridan's Cavalry.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Tuesday, June 28—5 A. M.

All remains quiet at the front. Our left wing swung round and took possession of the Weldon Railroad, about four miles from the city, without opposition.

It is believed the enemy's lines have been somewhat contracted since Friday last, and the opinion prevails that a force has been sent to meet and drive back Gen. HUNTER.

Almost nightly an attack is made on some part of the picket line in front of the Ninth Corps, but finding our men on the alert and ready for them, the rebels quickly retire.

As an instance of the sharp practice between the pickets, a man yesterday, not daring to stand up, put his feet out past the works, when he was instantly struck by a ball in the ankle. Many are wounded daily while going from their pits for water, and on other errands which cannot be postponed.

The Sanitary Commission are busy issuing fresh vegetables to the troops, which are very gratefully received, and will prove a great benefit to them.

TUESDAY, June 28—12 o'clock M.

Quite a severe engagement took place on Saturday between our cavalry and a force of the enemy, consisting of cavalry and mounted infantry, at the Chickahominy River.

The rebels had followed SHERIDAN from the White House in the expectation of being able to cut off part of his wagon train, which was very large, and it was here they made their attack.

TORBERT's division was detailed to protect the train, while GREGG's division was placed in position to resist an attack from the enemy on the roads which they were known to occupy.

At an early hour skirmishing commenced and was kept up until noon, when the rebel infantry, which had been dismounted, made a desperate charge on our lines, and, although our men dismounted and fought them gallantly for a time, they were finally compelled to retire, suffering considerably.

It was at first thought that our loss would be over five hundred, but your correspondent has been informed that it would not reach one-fourth of this number.

Our men fell back to their supports near the bridge, and the command, with the entire train, subsequently got over it without further loss.

The rebels made no effort to follow us up, and it is thought they must have suffered heavily or they would have done so.

The whole command has arrived at the James River, and will be all across by to-night.

Two soldiers are on trial at headquarters, charged with outraging a woman in the vicinity. The authorities are determined to put a stop to these shameful crimes, and if the proof is sufficient to convict the offenders, they will be dealt with as the negro was a week ago for a similar crime, namely—hanged.

There are now about five thousand sick and wounded in hospital at City Point, and they suffer much from the heat and from a lack of good water.

The members of the different aid societies are fast giving out from exhaustion and fever, and many of them have been forced to give up their labors and return home.

An Encouraging View by an Officer of the Christian Commission—How Gen. Grant Feels—Great Preparations in Progress Before Petersburgh.

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, June 29.

A prominent officer of the Christian Commission sends the following note to the editor of the American:

"I am just from the front this morning. Everything looks very well. The troops are in fine spirits. You may be assured of this, as I have been in personal contact with hundreds, both in the reserve and in the rifle-pits. I had an interview with Gen GRANT on Monday afternoon. He is confident of the result. He says there can be but one result—the defeat of the enemy or his (the enemy's) retreat from Petersburgh and then his complete overthrow.

Extensive preparations are in progress, and soon the country will the more loudly applaud the military genius and executive ability of Gens. GRANT and MEADE. I was surprised to find some of our Union men despondent when I arrived here (at Baltimore) this morning. You can safely assure your readers that there is no occasion for it."

Arrival of Wounded at Washington—Return of the Third Excelsior.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 29.

The steamer Keyport arrived here this morning from City Point, bringing up the army mails and the Third Excelsior New-York Regiment, 112 men, Lieut.-Col. JOHN LEONARD commanding, whose term of service has expired.

When the Keyport left City Point she had on board some twelve or fifteen rebel prisoners, but she stopped at Fortress Monroe, and turned them over to the authorities there.

She brought up the bodies of Col. W. W. BATES, of the Eighth New-York Heavy Artillery; Capt. S. T. KEENE, of the Twentieth Maine; Lieut. FRANK HAMMOND, of the Fifty-eighth Massachusetts, and Lieut. JAS. B. COLBY, of the Thirty-second Maine.

These bodies are at the wharf awaiting transportation North.

The steamer Thomas Morgan reached the wharf yesterday afternoon, from City Point. She had on board 250 wounded men, but she was ordered back to Alexandria to unload.

The steamer Mary Washington, which came up yesterday with wounded, was also ordered to return to Alexandria, where the wounded were placed in hospital.

ROSECRANS has ordered one or two companies of enrolled militia to be raised from each county for the protection of their respective localities. These men are to be chosen without respect to party, with the special view of commanding the confidence of the people generally. The force is to be armed, equipped, and put into service at once.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 29.

THE ARGUELLES CASE.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs to-day decided to postpone the Arguelles case until next December. The committee, after a full investigation of all the facts, deemed it inexpedient to take any action that will embarrass the Government. They postponed Mexican affairs for the same reason.

SUPPLEMENTAL TAX BILL.

Secretary CHASE, up to a late hour to-day, had not fully decided to send in a new Supplemental Tax Bill. Both Senate and House Finance Committees express considerable doubt whether such a measure as he desires could pass at this late day of the session.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Conference Committee on the Pacific Railroad, have been in session for some hours to-night. It is now settled that they will be able to harmonize the conflicting interests and agree upon the bill.

THE ENROLLMENT BILL.

The Senate Military Committee to-day decided to strike out the sixty days' notice in the Enrollment Bill. Should the Senate adhere to this, it will defeat the measure, as the House will not accept it.

DEATH OF COMMISSARY GENERAL TAYLOR.

Brig.-Gen. TAYLOR, Commissary General of the army, died this afternoon at his residence in this city.

A PREMATURE REPORT.

The report that Assistant Secretary FIELD is to be Sub-Treasurer in New-York is at least premature. It is stated to-night that Mr. CISCO has withdrawn his resignation by the special request of the Secretary of the Treasury.

GEN. SHERMAN'S LOSSES.

Later returns of Gen. SHERMAN's losses in the late action reduce the number to 2,000 instead of 2,500 as he reported on the day of the battle.

RECRUITING IN THE DISTRICT.

Not less than three hundred persons in the District, among them the Mayor, to-day, supplied themselves with substitutes, and it is now all but certain that there will be no draft in the District of Columbia.

FURTHER INCREASE OF TAX ON INCOMES.

The Senate Finance Committee have amended the House bill by adding a clause providing for a new tax of five per cent on incomes, additional to the regular Tax Bill, for the purpose of creating a fund out of which to pay bounties. This tax to be only collected to a sufficient extent to meet requisitions for bounties and to be independent of all other tax bills.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, June 28.

VOLUNTEERS.

The most cheering reports are being received from all parts of the country concerning the new and sagacious conception of the Provost-Marshal-General for obtaining volunteers by the system of representative recruits. Under the terms of the War Office order, not only exempt men, but exempt women may be personally represented in the army. There are certainly a hundred thousand patriotic females in the country who will be glad on this suggestion to send back her representative to Gen. GRANT, and it will be an extra inducement to the volunteer to know that his name, services and memory will be cherished by some fair woman. Add to the women the exempted men, and a quarter of a million of volunteers ought to be added to our army in July. Let them hurry on their representatives.

COURT-MARTIAL DECISIONS.

McCullough, Eighty-second New-York Volunteers, for drunkenness on duty, is found guilty and cashiered; Second Lieut. Aaron J. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, June 29.

THE PROGRESS OF GUNBOATS UNDER CONTRACT.

Mr. HALE, of New-Hampshire, (Union,) called up his resolution heretofore offered, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on the Conduct of the War to inquire what progress has been made in the construction of gunboats contracted for in 1862, and with whom was the contract made on the part of the Government? whose plans were adopted, and what is the prospect of their being launched, and whether any other vessels have been contracted for on the model of the Chimo, etc.?

THE M'DOWELL INVESTIGATING COMMISSION.

Mr. ANTHONY, of Rhode Island, (Union,) from the Committee on Public Printing, reported in favor of printing the report of the commission over which Gen. MCDOWELL presided, in relation to certain alleged frauds in the Western Department.

Mr. HENDRICKS, of Indiana, (Dem.) said in this report the name of Col. SLACK, Forty-[illegible] Indiana Regiment, was mentioned as having been connected with cotton speculations. He had known Col. SLACK for a number of years, and was not [illegible] of any fault in his character.

Mr. GRIMES, of Iowa, (Union,) [illegible] gentlemen to be vindicated, [illegible]

The Governor and the Grand Jury.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Our worthy Governor says, in his epistle to the District-Attorney, that the grand jurors "violated their oaths" in not permitting themselves to be used for advancing his ideas of States Rights, or because they would not suffer themselves to be made tools to screen himself from taking the necessary responsibility in the matter of the suppression of the newspapers mentioned. If there had been any violation of law necessary for the Grand Jury to take action upon, why did he not have the guilty parties arrested and examined before a committing magistrate, and, if found guilty, the papers would then have come before us in a proper shape, according to His Honor's, the Judge's charge, and, if the evidence of the witnesses, which would have been taken before the Grand Jury, would have warranted, we would undoubtedly have found a true bill, as we did in over sixty cases that were properly before us.

The fact is, Mr. Editor, the Grand Jury was composed of intelligent gentlemen, who understood their oaths to mean exactly what they swore to, "that they would present no person in malice" or through fear of his majesty's displeasure, and had too much self-respect to suffer themselves to become the instruments of His Excellency, in forwarding his political views, or that of the party to which he belongs.

I would respectfully ask His Excellency where he gets his authority to sit in judgment upon the oaths and consciences of gentlemen acting as Grand Juries?

I have no doubt that every criminal against whom we found bills, and who have already been sent to the State prison for their crimes, entertain the same opinion as His Honor the Governor, that we violated our oaths, and were in hopes they would have had more friends amongst the Grand Jurors.

Our Governor, Mr. Editor, has shown great zeal in the matter of the suppression of the newspapers, and it is to be hoped that should his friends again get into a little muss, and amuse themselves in murdering some of his fellow-citizens, burning their houses, and destroying and stealing their property, he will be equally vigilant.

The whole thing was so transparent that the Grand Jury could not violate their oaths by entertaining it.

ONE OF THE GRAND JURY.

Important Meeting in Regard to Public Health.

An important meeting was held yesterday noon, in the Chamber of the Board of Aldermen. The Commissioners of the Board of Health, the Quarantine Commissioners, Commissioners of Emigration, and the Senators from New-York, Kings and Richmond Counties were present—Mayor GUNTHER presiding.

The object was to make some arrangements for providing a place whereat to land well passengers arriving in vessels infected with contagious diseases, and to detain them for the time in which such disease would be likely to develope itself. It is a fact, beyond all denial, that ship fever, small pox, &c., have been spread broadcast through this City, and this and other States, because of the inadequate provision made for the detention of passengers who arrived in vessels having disease on board. Statistics show the fearful result of the insufficient precaution adopted in this respect, and the absolute necessity of more effectual and prompt action. The Health Officer, Dr. SWINBURNE, called the attention of the Board of Commissioners of Health to it, at a late meeting, in an urgent communication, and this meeting for conference was the result.

It was designed to request the Commissioners of the Land Office to set apart certain of the public lands on Staten Island for the desired purpose, but they have no right to do so, and Dr. SWINBURNE stated that the law made it imperative for them to sell, so that even a temporary location on these lands was doubtful.

Dr. SAYRE, Resident Physician, set forth the absolute necessity of some place for the detention, showing how life and health were imperiled by the laxity of observance of proper hygienic laws. He favored location on Staten Island, and alleged that no case of disease had occurred to any of the residents which could be traced to the hospital.

A discussion of some length ensued, in which Senator CHRISTIE of Staten Island, Dr. SWINBURNE, Dr. R. H. THOMPSON, Quarantine Commissioner, Senator MURPHY of Kings, and Dr. SAYRE participated. The opposition of Messrs. CHRISTIE and MURPHY to any location on Staten Island was acceded, and the suggestion of transfer vessels in the bay met with little favor.

Mayor GUNTHER suggested Bedloe's Island as an insulated spot, admirably adapted for the purpose.

Dr. SWINBURNE stated that, by permission of Gen. DIX, he had visited Bedloe's Island, and found it would accommodate 5,000 persons without interference with the defensive uses of the United States Government. He thought the Government would allow its use for the desired purpose, and Comptroller ROBINSON had informed him that the State would undoubtedly willingly transfer to the General Government the use of lands on Staten Island if they would allow for this purpose the use of Bedloe's, and that the Commissioners of the Land Office would cheerfully unite with the health authorities in such an arrangement with the United States Government.

Dr. THOMPSON urged the necessity of prompt action as being a duty owing the people, not only of this vicinity, but of the entire State. The absolute necessity of detaining the well passengers from infected vessels for period for the incubation of disease, he fully demonstrated.

Dr. SAYRE offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Mayor and Commissioners of Health, of the City of New-York, do respectfully request that the General Government grant the Health Officer of the Port of New-York, permission to use such portions of Bedloe's Island, or other suitable place belonging to the United States Government, as may not be required for defensive purposes, for the detention of passengers arriving at this port who have been exposed to contagious or infectious diseases, but solely for the use of those who are well; and that the Commissioners of the Land Office be desired to coöperate with the Government in affording barracks accommodations to the United States troops, on lands held by such Commissioners.

Senator MURPHY offered the following resolution, which was also adopted, and the meeting adjourned:

Resolved, That the Commissioners of Quarantine be requested, in case the United States Government shall not grant the use of such portion of Bedloe's Island, or other suitable place, to provide barges or scows for the detention of the persons referred to in the preceding resolution.

THE QUOTA UNDER THE NEW ENROLLMENT.—The new enrollment, which is now completed, shows an increase of several thousand over the enrollment of last year. This is partially owing to the careful manner in which the different districts have been canvassed, but more particularly to the extraordinary increase of emigration within the past six months of young men, most of whom have declared their intentions, and have settled in the City. The increase of foreign laborers in our iron foundries is alone, within the period mentioned, over 11,000. A large number of these men are liable to draft, and others will join the army as substitutes. Our quota under the new enrollment, if the next call shall not exceed 300,000, will probably not be more than 20,000. That number can be easily raised in less than sixty days, if the present appearances can be relied upon as any indication of the future. There are now hundreds of men in the City who are willing and anxious to enlist, but are waiting for the City Hall Park Recruiting Office to open and pay the $300 County bounty.

CITY MISSIONS.—The Tract Missionary Society held a meeting on Tuesday evening in the Laight-street Baptist Church, Mr. WETMORE in the chair. The [illegible] of the Eighth, Fourteenth, Seventeenth and Twentieth Wards, and the missionaries for seamen and Scandinavians made statements showing, in a variety of particulars, the amount of good accomplished by personal effort. The pastor of the church expressed his great satisfaction in the work, and encouraged the laborers to persevere. Among the statistics reported, we have the following: 88,436 tracts distributed; 206 Bibles and Testaments given; 413 gathered into Sabbath schools and day schools and Bible classes; 341 led to church; 331 meetings, and 66 persons brought under the care of pastors and churches.

Jurisdiction to Set Aside Assignment—Plaintiff's Equity Must be Pleaded.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Leonard, Clerke and Barnard.

Coope, Receiver, &c., vs. Bowles et al.—This was an appeal from a judgment entered upon the report of J. T. Williams, Referee. The action was brought by the plaintiff, a receiver, under proceedings supplementary to execution against the members of the firm of De Agreda, Jove & Co., their assignee, Charles G. P. Bowles, and the members of his firm of C. Stetson & Co., to set aside the assignment to Bowles, and to recover proceeds of the assigned property received by him and deposited by him with his firm. The assignment was executed by only two of the four members of the firm; but it was claimed by the defence that they had authority from the other members, who were absent from the State, to execute the assignment, and also that its execution was ratified by them. The Referee found that there was no such authority nor ratification; that the assignee had collected about $21,000, which he had deposited with his firm, and held that the assignment was void, and that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree against C. Stetson & Co. for the amount deposited with them.

The referee having settled the form of the decree, after making his report, the plaintiff caused a judgment to be entered upon it without applying to the Court at Special Term to direct the entry of judgment.

From the judgment thus entered the defendents C. Stetson & Co. appealed.

The Court held (Judge Leonard delivering the opinion) that although the judgment should have been entered on the direction of a Judge and not on the report of the Referee directly, yet this was an irregularity only, to be cured by a motion and not by an appeal.

That there was not sufficient proof of a ratification or of a power of attorney from at least one of the absent partners, and that without such authority or ratification the assignment cannot be supported.

That the assignee would be allowed on settlement of his accounts, if the assignment be finally set aside, whatever moneys were paid for expenses or to the creditors under the assignment in good faith before the commencement of the action. But that payments to himself or to his firm would not come within this principle.

That the complaint was defective in not setting forth the judgment and other facts necessary to maintain supplementary proceedings.

And on this ground alone, although the objection was not taken by the defendants, in their answer, or on the trial, or on the appeal, the judgment was ordered to be reversed with costs of the appeal to the appellant, and with leave to the plaintiff to apply at Special Term to amend his complaint.

Upon application by the respondent for a reargument of the case on this point, on the ground that he had not been heard upon it, and that the printed case was erroneously made up, was denied by the court.

Messrs. Goodrich and Benedict for plaintiff; O. E. Bright for defendants.

WEDNESDAY, June 29—P. M.

There is increased and more general stringency in the Money Market, to-day, and the demand for Greenbacks to settle balances and for transmission to the country, is understood to be greatly aggravated by the want of harmony among the Clearing-house Banks. This trouble grows more serious as the purpose of the minority Banks to embarrass the daily settlements at the Clearing-house becomes patent to the majority.

The most pressing borrowers at Bank and in the open market, are from the Corn Exchange, where speculators in Pork, Whisky, &c., are ready to pay enormous differences for Money to carry on their movements. Another demand comes from the holders of foreign merchandise, who have marked up their goods, and are attempting to sell or carry them at prices corresponding to the rise in Gold. A third and quite important demand is for Greenbacks, for transmission to the country, particularly to Vermont, Northern New-York and Ohio and Michigan, to pay for Wool, the season for which is now in its midst. The usual demand from the Stock Brokers is also pressing, but not so conspicuous as from the other quarters referred to. They were sellers of United States Stocks for Philadelphia and Boston account for cash, indicating a turn in the Money Markets in these neighboring cities. The anomaly of the day is that, while Greenbacks are scarce at full 7 ₩ cent. per annum, and the old Associated Banks are at discord in settling their balances with each other in this paper medium, the speculators in Gold ran up the premium from 238 to 252 ₩ cent., back to 236 ₩ cent., and up again to 242 ₩ cent., as against 238 at 3 o'clock yesterday. These violent fluctuations, so far from bringing out a free supply of the Greenback currency for employment in the open market, because of its supposed depreciation, appear to be attended by the contrary results. The final adjustment of the Tariff and Internal Revenue measures before Congress, and the presence of the Secretary of the Treasury in the market, clothed with the plenary powers of the New Loan Act—including ample authority to accept Money from Europe—will, perhaps, in a few days, serve to bring about at least a more consistent state of affairs.

To-morrow the last installment on the $42,000,000 of United States 6 ₩ cents. of 1881 awarded on the 15th inst., must be paid in. The calling in of loans on this account is not what might have been deemed large a few days ago, but in the present condition of the market it will lock up in the Treasury Office and in the National Banks an amount of Greenbacks which cannot be conveniently spared from active employment.

At the Stock Exchange some heavy orders to realize on United States Stocks and other favorite securities were apparent at both sessions of the Board to-day. The 5-20 Bonds declined 2@2½ ₩ cent., on peremptory sales of about $300,000. The 12 months Certificates of Indebtedness were also pressed at 93½@92¾ ₩ cent., and the Railway Share list was generally heavy, and the temper of speculation much unsettled. At 4 o'clock the following prices were made, in comparison with the same hour on Tuesday:

By Alderman Hardy—

Whereas, The Common Council are informed that Lieutenant-Colonel William H. Green, Jr., of the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Regiment New-York Volunteers, being the Fourth Regiment of the Metropolitan Guard, and one of the regiments raised in this City, who was severely wounded while gallantly leading his regiment in the battle of Pleasant Hill, in Louisiana, on the ninth day of April last, is dead; and

Whereas, Lieutenant-Colonel Green had risen from the ranks to the honorable and important position in which he received the fatal wound, by his manly qualities, his soldierly ability and his great bravery in battle; and

Whereas, It is proper that the men whose lives are freely periled and nobly sacrificed in the service of their country should not pass to the grave without an appropriate record of their patriotic service, and especially that the people of this City, by their chosen representatives, should express the grief with which they note the loss of officers who fall while in the command of the soldiers which we have contributed to the national armies; therefore,

Resolved, That the Common Council have learned with profound sorrow of the death of Lieutenant-Colonel William N. Green, Jr., from wounds received in battle; that the example presented by the bravery in action, and the fidelity and attention to duty at all times, which had secured to him high and honorable rank, and the confidence and esteem of his superior officers, is worthy of emulation by all our soldiers, deepens the grief with which we record his early death; and that we offer to his family and friends the expression of our warmest sympathy in the irreparable loss they have sustained by the untimely though noble death of one so esteemed for his virtues and honored for his services.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution be duly authenticated and transmitted by the Clerk of the Common Council, on behalf of the City authorities, to the family of the deceased.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.

A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.

THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.

J. I. & J. O. WEST, NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW-YORK.

Are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this J. W. BRADLEY'S PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop skirts, viz.: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. [illegible] Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

There is very little war news of exciting interest this morning. Everything is reported quiet with Gen. GRANT's army before Petersburgh. A dispatch, dated Tuesday morning, says our left wing has swung around so as to take possession of the Welden Roilroad south of that city. This, it is said, was done without opposition. A report from the front intimates that enormous preparation are going on in our works about Petersburgh, from which the country will soon hear important results.

There is nothing new from Gen. HUNTER.

Gen. SHERMAN's losses in the fight of Friday, are reported to be considerably less than 2,000, instead of 2,600, as heretofore reported. It was Gen. HARKER, and not HOOKER, as some papers have it, who was mortally wounded.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday, the resolution to inquire as to what progress has been made in the construction of gunboats contracted for in 1862, was adopted. A report was made in favor of printing the report of the commission over which Gen. MCDOWELL presided, in relation to certain alleged frauds in the Western Department on motion all further proceedings were indefinitely postponed. The House bill for the relief of MARY KELLOG, whose husband was hanged as a spy in Richmond, was passed. The matter of publishing the documents with reference to the French and Mexican Question was referred to the Committee on Printing. The resolution declaring Messrs. FISHBACK and BAXTER, not entitled to seats as Senators from Arkansas was brought up, and after considerable discussion, passed by a vote of 27 yeas to 6 nays. The bill in amendment of the Pension Act of July 14, 1862, was taken up, amended and passed. One of the amendments adopted provides that the benefits of this bill shall extend to the wives and children of colored soldiers, without further proof than the fact that the parties have lived together for two years. The bill to reimburse Pennsylvania for the expenses of the militia in the rebel invasion of last year was brought up and amended. A report was received from the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing amendments to the Tariff Bill. A resolution was adopted requesting the President to appoint a day for humiliation and prayer by the people of the United States. In the evening session the bill relating ot the law of evidence in the District of Columbia was passed. The resolution requesting the President to revoke the order which caused the suppression of the Cincinnati Inquirer was brought up, and, after considerable discussion, was lost, by a vote of 8 yeas to 25 nays. The enrollment bill as received from the House was considered at length and finally passed, the principal amendment being the reduction of the sixty days grace for volunteering to forty days.

In the House of Representatives the Senate's amendments to the bill regulating the prize proceedings and the distribution of prize money was concurred in. A resolution to inquire whether any disloyal persons are employed in the War Department was objected to. The resolution stating that Mr. SCHENCK was not disqualified from membership in the House, but that Mr. BLAIR having held his commission after the commencement of the session, was thereby disqualified from holding his seat, was agreed to. The Arkansas election cases were brought up and argued for some time, when, on motion, the whole subject was laid on the table. The Civil Appropriation Bill was then taken up and argued at length, and some of the Senate's amendments agreed to. In the evening session, it was resolved that the Committee on Public Expenditures, intrusted with the investigation of the affairs of the New-York Custom-house, be authorized to sit during the recess, with the same power and authority as hitherto exercised. The bill to organize and regulate the Engineer Corps was passed. The House acted upon and concurred in the action of the Committee of the Whole on the State of the which, on the Senate's amendments to the Civil Appropriation Bill. The Senate's amendment, which provides that no witness shall be excluded from Federal Courts on account of color, nor in any civil suit in which such person is interested, or is a party to the suit, was agreed to. A report from the Conference Committee on the disagreeing amendment to the Tariff Bill was concurred in. The House agreed to the amendment of the Senate to extend the contract for carrying the Overland Pacific Mail, after which the House adjourned.

GENERAL NEWS.

An important meeting of the Board of Commissioners of Health, Commissioners of Quarantine, Commissioners of Emigration, and the Senators from New-York, Kings and Richmond Counties, was held at the City Hall, yesterday, to provide some place at which to land and detain well passengers from infected vessels. A resolution was adopted for a conference with the United States Government, with a view to securing a portion of Bedloe's Island or other place; in the event of this failing, the Quarantine Commissioners to procure barges or scows for the purposes of the required detention.

The trial of Police Officer TYLER, on charge of assault upon ELLEN ANDERSON, a colored woman, and also on charge of violating Police regulations, was had before the Police Commissioners yesterday morning. The officer had aided the conductor in ejecting Mrs. ANDERSON from an Eighth-avenue Railroad car. The forcible ejection was proven, as was the fact that no rule of the company existed excluding colored people from the cars. Mr. WHITEHEAD, who appeared for the complainant, stated that there was no feeling against the officer, who had acted probably as he thought was his duty; but the purpose was to test the right of the police in such matters, and if they had no right to act as this officer did, then by a proper punishment to prevent an occurrence of such wrongs. Commissioner ACTON held that the officer had committed a breach of the peace, there being no law against these people using the cars, and none to warrant his conduct. Sentence was postponed in order for a full board to decide what it should be.

At a meeting of the managers of the different theatres on Tuesday evening, at Mr. WALLACK's residence, to take into consideration the increased demands of musicians, it was resolved to accede to $14 per week for the theatres, and $5 50 per night for the opera, on the pledge by the musicians that no further increase be asked during the seasons of 1864 and 1865.

The One Hundred and Tenth Commencement of Columbia College took place yesterday morning, at the Academy of Music. President CHAS. KING took leave of the Trustees, on retiring, and introduced his successor, Rev. Dr. BARNARD, who delivered an inaugural address. The exercises were unusually interesting.

The preliminary examination of Mr. HENDERSON, late Navy Agent, was postponed yesterday until Tuesday next, when it will be positively commenced before United States Commissioner OSBORNE. Hon. EDWARDS PIERREPONT has been associated with Mr. E. F. BROWN in the defence.

A supplemental draft from the old enrollment lists took place in Brooklyn yesterday, in those wards which were deficient. Twenty-seven men were required, and one thousand names were drawn, from which the deficiency will readily be made up.

The Superintendent of the Eighth-avenue Railroad makes public announcement that hereafter colored people are allowed to ride in all the cars, large and small, of that company.

Yesterday morning Mr. S. D. HORTON, a Hell-Gate pilot, while passing near the Stepping Stones, saw the naked foot of a woman in the water. It apparently had been chopped off with some blunt instrument; the bone being broken, and the sinews streaming from it. It was evidently that of a young person, and the pilot describes it as "short, very neat and perfect in shape."

Judge GILES, sitting in the United States District Court at Baltimore, on Saturday, decided that a ticket issued by a city passenger railway company, merely for rides in their cars, and for no other purpose, does not violate the act of Congress of July 17, 1862, against uttering a token, memorandum or obligation intended to circulate as money, or to be received or used in lieu of the lawful money of the United States.

A letter from Belgaum, India, of the 7th May, which is published in the United Service Gazette, (England) says: "This pleasant station was startled out of all propriety a few mornings ago, by a report that a party of the Alabama's crew were at the traveler's bungalow, beating up for volunteers. Next morning it was found that five artillerymen had deserted; they were, however, overtaken on the Goa road, whence they were proceeding to join Capt. SEMMES, who was quietly lying off Goa to pick up whatever game his crimps managed to bag ashore. The fact that a party from the Confederate cruiser succeeded in reaching a station a hundred miles inland, without let or hindrance, and carried off a whole subdivision of her Britannic Majesty's Artillery, is a lesson from which the vigilant (save the mark) Governmentals might take a lesson."

The Sidon, extra Cunard steamer, from Liverpool June 14, arrived at this port yesterday. The mails by the Hibernian, via Quebec, also came to hand, but the advices by both steamers have been anticipated.

The pressure for Money was quite general yesterday, and among the Associated Banks themselves, in the Clearing-house, the signs of scarcity and want of harmony in selling balances, was quite apparent. The Stock Market was lower, while the speculators in Gold made an ultimate advance of 4 ℔ cent. The fluctuations were firm—138@152, and back to 136@142 ℔ cent.

The business in Domestic Produce was quite animated yesterday. Prices of Flour, Wheat, Oats, Pork, Lard, Whisky and Coa were much higher. The demand for such articles was largely speculative, in view of the rapid rise in the premium on Gold. General merchandise was held in most instances at advanced rates, but transactions were restricted. Many holders were unwilling to sell. Freights were quiet.

The Repeal of the Commutation—The Party of Indiscriminate Resistance.

Not a solitary member of the Opposition in the House voted to repeal the commutation clause of the Enrollment Act. Yet after that bill was passed, eighteen months ago, it was that very clause which the same party especially used to arouse popular passion against the Government. Their orators on the platform, their newspapers and their street talk were full of fiery indignation at the tyranny which forced the poor man from his family into the ranks, while the rich man was let off by the payment of money. In vain it was urged that the law, by keeping down the price of substitutes, was really for the poor man's benefit—that by commuting, and so remitting to the Government the business of finding substitutes, personal exemption was placed within the reach of tens of thousands who otherwise would have no alternative but to quit home and serve. The changes were still rung with the utmost fierceness upon the atrocious distinction of the Government against the poor. It was that one act, incessantly kept up, that did more than all things else to produce the New-York riots, with all their terrible scenes of fire and blood. And yet when an effort is made to put an end to the distinction, the representatives of the party plant themselves dead against it.

It is not possible to give a decent reason for this inconsistency. We recognize fully that there are, and always have been, strong arguments both for and against commutation. But there is no argument in its favor now, which did not exist a year ago. If it was wrong then to give the well-to-do man the privilege of buying himself from army service, where the poor man had no such chance, it is just as wrong now. Any really invidious class distinctions by the law are at all times reprehensible. The principle involved in the commutation measure, whether good or bad, remains the same as at the first. On the other hand, the practical operation of the measure has not been satisfactory. Men have been got, it is true, in large numbers by the offer of large bounties for volunteering; but of those drafted, not more than one in twelve or fifteen are secured to the army. Said the Provost-Marshal-General, in his communication to the War Department on the subject: "I see no reason to believe that the army can be materially strengthened by draft so long as the $300 clause is in force, nor do I think it safe to assume that the commutation paid by a drafted man will enable the Government to procure a volunteer or substitute in his place." And the Secretary of War, in his communication to the House, testified that "ample experience has now shown that the pecuniary exemption from service frustrates the object of the Enrollment Law by furnishing money instead of men." Commutation has practically made conscription but a system of taxation by lot. This demonstrated impolicy has impelled the Government to abandon the measure. In spite of this impolicy, and in the very face of the principle which they formerly maintained even to defiance and resistance, the Opposition now stand as a man for commutation. Bound by stronger reasons than ever to hold their original ground, they abandon it the instant the Government assumes it.

No special pleading can explain away this conduct. Honest people know precisely what the contradiction means. It is faction, pure and simple. Commutation was opposed last year because the Government supported it, and because opposition presented the opportunity, always prized by demagogues, of stirring up the poor against the rich, and thereby weakening the Government. Commutation is now advocated because the Government is against it, and because it is proved that it worked to the disadvantage of the Government by preventing the necessary accessions to the armies which are fighting to maintain the Government. We are willing enough to concede that individual members of the Opposition may have undergone an honest change of conviction in regard to the measure since its first adoption; but, charitable as we may be toward individuals, it cannot be supposed that an entire party can have made such a change of front, in such circumstances, from purely patriotic motives. It is not possible to reconcile this counter-movement with any real determination to support the war against the rebellion. The ruling purpose is to embarrass and weaken the Government—to further party ends rather than the interests of the country.

Sanitary Reform.

It is well known that the system of statistical inquiry on the sanitary condition of the camps, pursued by the Sanitary Commission, has produced most valuable results, not merely affecting the present condition of our armies, but that of all future armies. The dry facts obtained are worth thousands of lives to the nation.

We are glad to see that a similar method is being inaugurated by the "Hygienic Council," consisting of some of our most distinguished physicians connected with the "Citizens' Association."

A series of questions, carefully and scientifically prepared, are put into the hands of the Inspector of the Society visiting a certain ward or district.

These questions relate, in the first place, to the "Medical Record of the Sick Person"—such as his name, residence, age, nativity and social condition, together with the etiological and natural history of the disease. When inquiries are addressed as to the family and other persons exposed to the malady and its causes, next in regard to the sanitary condition of the house—the ventilation, the proportion of occupants to the space, the conditions for or against health in the neighborhood, the drainage, &c., &c.

The whole block or square is then investigated, as to its sewerage, the special nuisances, the population to the lot, and any miasmatic or unhealthy exhalations, which may be arising in that quarter. Other questions are also put as to infant diseases and mortality, to ascertain the causes and the rate of children's diseases in a given district.

It will be obvious to our readers, that if this system be thoroughly carried out over the whole City by this association, we shall know the exact relation of many diseases to certain causes, so that the public can say for instance that a certain block in East Thirty-second-street, near First-avenue, having so many hundred people to so many cubic feet, and being exposed to the nuisance of continual garbage, always has such and such a proportion of typhoid or cholera infantum.

Our physicians will be able to tell then the exact proportion of diseases to a ward or street, and how certainly and inevitably certain miasmas destroy life. A mass of most valuable facts, which lessons should save thousands of lives, will be collected by our sanitary authorities, and enable the Legislature to provide intelligently against the abuses which undermine the health of the City.

New-York, the most healthily situated city on this continent, shows one death in every thirty-five of the inhabitants; Philadelphia, one in every forty-three; Boston, one in forty-one; and Hartford, one to fifty-four.

Before the modern sanitary improvements (in which we are so shamefully behindhand) the rate of London was 1 in 20; of Liverpool, 1 in 28. Now, under the new regulations in regard to the lodging-houses and the removal of nuisances, the rate in London is 1 in 45; of Liverpool, 1 in 44. Our rate in New-York ought to be much better than any of these. We presume, taking the district between Second-avenue and Sixth, omitting all tenement-houses, the rate would not be more than 1 in 60—perhaps even better. Our best physicians have publicly stated, over their own signatures, that the present rate of mortality might be reduced by proper sanitary measures fully thirty per cent.; that is, that over seven thousand lives are uselessly sacrificed every year in New-York to our ignorance or incapacity. They also estimate, according to the usual average of 28 cases of sickness to 1 death, that "upward of 200,000 cases of preventible and needless sickness occur here every year." And the sad consideration is that this mortality and sickness falls most heavily on the poor and ignorant, who cannot be induced by their demagogue leaders to permit a sanitary reform in this City.

Still all classes suffer; a loss to the laboring class is a loss to all. Their diseases, their fevers and small-pox and cholera spread to those who are far from the generating causes.

There is no more urgent reform needed in New-York for the whole population than this sanitary reform. It involves the saving of tens of thousands of lives, and of immense value in labor. If the Citizens' Association can only succeed in carrying out wise and thorough measures for this end, they will receive the lasting gratitude of the community.

Self Delusion at the South.

There is hardly anything more remarkable in the whole history of the war than the lies upon which the people of the South have been fed, as to the results of military movements. It is not very often that we can get any accurate information of the extent of these falsehoods, for the interior of rebeldom is a dark place. But we have abundant evidence that the spirits of the people have been perpetually kept up by accounts of marvelous successes, wherever their forces and ours have come into collision. It is not long since a refugee from Texas mentioned this in our columns, the people where he had been having been repeatedly informed, in the most positive way, of the capture of Washington, the dispersal of the Army of the Potomac, the flight of the President, &c., &c.

We noticed a small instance of this in relation to SHERIDAN's recent raid toward Gordonsville. The Richmond papers announced his defeat. But the Charlottesville Chronicle, published within a few miles of the spot, and where, of course, accurate information was easily attainable, made it far more than a mere defeat, exploding over it in the following fashion:

> "VICTORY.—We publish elsewhere the important news from the battle-field near Trevilian's. The enemy is not only beaten—it is a flight. The prisoners being captured by the hundreds. The victory is at last decisive. God be thankful.
>
> In the words of the sainted JACKSON, 'God has blessed our arms with another victory'—one of the most important of the campaign. The terror of our railroads—the thorn in the side of Gen. LEE—the sword of Gen. GRANT—is at last tackled. What announcement so grateful, so opportune, as that 'SHERIDAN is flying in confusion.' That splendid cavalry is broken. Prisoners, horses, arms—such are the results of three days' fighting—and with trifling loss. Such are the fruits of concentration. Such the effect of a combined movement between HAMPTON and LEE. Where was SHERIDAN going? nobody knows. But a heavy hand was laid upon his shoulder at West's Mill, near Trevilian's depot. Imagine his consternation! But he fought bravely. It took three days to crush him. If the telegraph does not mislead us he is crushed—his force flying about and scattering. Oh, this is sweet!
> Strike, HAMPTON! strike, FITZ LEE—strike, and spare not! May the last man perish!"

Now, if we turn to SHERIDAN's official account of the affair, we find some particulars of it which are entirely omitted by the editor, to wit, the destruction of the railroad for miles, the death of one rebel Colonel, the wounding of another and a Brigadier-General, and the capture of three hundred and seventy rebel prisoners, including twenty commissioned officers, which were brought safely into our lines. And the rebel paper says not a word of their loss in killed and wounded, but talks about a "decisive victory," "one of the most important of the campaign," about "prisoners being captured by the hundreds," and SHERIDAN's being "crushed—his force flying about and scattering." His closing remark, "Oh! this is sweet," reminds us of those who are said to roll falsehood as a sweet morsel under the tongue.

It may be, however, that all this, instead of being willful falsehood, is only due to an over amount of excitement on the part of the editor. That he was excited would seem to be shown by the fact that, instead of calling upon his readers to be thankful to God, he calls upon God to be thankful to them.

But, whatever cause it is due to, the effect is the same. The deluded rebels will hear nothing of what SHERIDAN accomplished, but will, we doubt not, continue to believe that he was completely routed.

GARBAGE IN THE STREETS.—The attention of the Board of Health is called to the vast accumulations of garbage and night-soil on the sidewalks throughout the City. Much of it has lain for four or five days during one of the hottest terms of the season. The overpowering nature of the concentrated stinks which arise at nearly every grocery corner, even in the wide and airy avenues, gives ample warning of the pestilence that must be breeding all around us. In the narrow streets the smells are simply horrible, and it is altogether a matter of wonder that the spread of disease is not ten times more virulent than it is. The City Inspector, we are told, has no funds. Then the Board of Health must find him funds, or find some other means of remedying this evil, and o remedying it to-day. The powers of the board are ample—illimitable, in fact, in any emergency which threatens an epidemic. The temporary relaxation in the heat of the weather presents an opportunity for removing the accumulations of dirt, without the same risk of spreading infectious disease as will be incurred by postponing the matter perhaps even for another day. Action, immediate action, is what is wanted.

THE WAY TO FILL THE ARMY.—Our Washington special correspondent gives a cheering report this morning of the success which promises to attend the Provost-Marshal-General's plan of obtaining volunteers by the system of representative recruits. Exempted persons of either sex may be represented in the army, by furnishing a substitute or paying the price of one, (which price, for the present, the Hancock Committee, of this City, fix at four hundred dollars.)

The coöperative aid thus secured for the recruiting service will be found of the greatest possible value to the Government, and will prove at the same time an important means of relief from the pressure of the draft, should the Conscription Bill, in the obnoxious shape in which it has passed the House, become law. Our correspondent is, doubtless, within the mark in computing that there are one hundred thousand ladies in the loyal North, who have the means, as well as the patriotic spirit, to send, each, a representative to the Army of the Potomac. What a glorious stimulus such an agency will prove to the zeal of the entire community! Each recruit thus raised by the influence, or the money contributions of exempted citizens, will be credited to the district in which the volunteer recruiting agent resides. By this means the draft, we trust, will be anticipated in very many districts; and the service will be recruited with willing men, instead of unwilling conscripts.

RIVAL PARTIES IN ENGLAND AND THE DANISH QUESTION.—The latest news from Europe presents the question of a threatened party crisis in England, in a somewhat modified aspect. The Tories have failed to get their courage up to the sticking point in the matter of a vote of censure on the foreign policy of the Government. The trouble of the Opposition, and what makes them so feeble-kneed, is their utter want of sincerity in this matter of standing by Denmark in her unequal struggle for her territorial rights. But for the thorough distrust with which the Liberal friends of the assailed monarchy, in the House of Commons regard the professions of the Tory leaders, the life of the Palmerston Ministry would barely be worth a day's purchase. So long, however, as that distrust remains, there is no prospect of a combination strong enough to supplant the present Cabinet—unless indeed (which is not improbable) it breaks up from internal dissensions. It was probably to these dissensions that the rumors current on 'Change, noticed in our last, more particularly referred.

EMIGRATION—MORE OCEAN STEAM LINES.—The steamship Washington, the first of the new Transatlantic line of steamers, arrived here yesterday, from Havre, with a fair passenger list and a full freight. The Sidon, an extra Cunard boat, also arrived yesterday, bringing nearly four hundred passengers. This constant stream of emigration, and these steady accessions to the great Atlantic ferry lines, supply a practical and satisfactory commentary on the idle talk of the Clanricardes and their fellows, as to the employment of secret recruiting agencies for the United States army abroad. We shall next hear that this new Transatlantic line, of which the Washington is the pioneer, is in receipt of secret bounty-money from the Department of the Provost-Marshal-General. The one story would be quite as feasible as the other. Nay, it would be a far more rational proceeding to subsidize steamship lines, to bring hither the crowds that line the piers of all the chief emigrant ports of the United Kingdom, waiting for passages, than to spend the money in scouring the wilds of Connemara for a few stray Irishmen, under the pretence of recruiting the national army.

THE SIXTY DAYS' NOTICE.—It will be seen that the Senate Military Committee yesterday struck out the sixty days grace for volunteering in the House Bill. This destroys the hope of compromise on the commutation clause—unless the Senate reverses the decision of the committee. A provision that ample notice should be given of the draft was the salvation of the bill, in the House. But for that provision, most assuredly the three hundred dollar clause would have been retained. It would seem, therefore, that the only hope now of getting the measure through in any workable form will lie in an acceptance by both Houses of what is the clear, unmistakable judgment of the public that there should be a fixed commutation fee, big or little, And in this matter public opinion, as well as merely official theories, must be consulted, to insure cordial coöperation on all hands in the great work before us.

Vegetables for the Army.

At the solicitation of Capt. MARSHALL and Mr. BLUNT, the Government has ordered a steamer to be in readiness on Saturday, to take a cargo of vegetables to the Army of the Potomac. Notice of contributions may be given on or before Friday, to either of the gentlemen named, and the donations will be sent for on that day, so that they may be loaded and promptly dispatched in time to reach the army Sunday evening. Those who prefer to help the good cause along by contributing money, may send it to either of the gentlemen who have taken so prominent a part in this praiseworthy movement. Mr. BLUNT acknowledges the following as among the contributions received yesterday: Georgiana Blunt, $62; Jonathan Sturges, $50; Sherman & Wibirt, $25; Charles King, $25; Parker Handy, $25; E. & G. W. Blunt, $25; J. D. Lawson, $10; J. Bridge, $25; total, $247.

Onions for the Soldiers.

WALL-STREET, Thursday, June 29, 1864.

DEAR SIR: Noticing the proposition in your paper to purchase onions and other vegetables for our gallant soldiers, with the money we might spend in celebrating the coming Fourth of July, I beg leave to hand you the inclosed check, to be used for that purpose.

I am an Irish-Yankee, a reader of the TIMES; live in the village of Philadelphia; am half a New-Yorker in business, and for these reasons, as well as from the fact that the New-Yorkers are nearer the Connecticut onion fields than the Philadelphians; are sharper on a trade, and can buy them (the onions) cheaper, I request you to do me the favor of adding my mite for the proposed object.

Very respectfully, your friend,

JAMES GRAHAM.

[Inclosed in the above was a check for $50.—ED. TIMES.]

ONIONS FOR THE ARMY.

Arrangements having been made for the transportation of vegetables to the Army of the Potomac, those disposed to give, either in money or in vegetables, can send the money to the subscribers, or inform them where the vegetables are to be had, on Friday next, July 1.

CHAS. N. MARSHALL, No. 38 Burling-slip.
GEO. W. BLUNT, No. 179 Water-street.

THE SANITARY COMMISSION WILL RECEIVE ONIONS AND OTHER VEGETABLES.

We are now authorized to state that the Sanitary Commission will receive and receipt for any and all moneys that may be sent to them for this purpose, and that they will also attend to the shipment of any and all supplies in kind, by which phrase we mean quantities of fresh onions or other vegetables, which may be sent to the commission in barrels or boxes, by farmers or other persons, who do not find it convenient to spare money at this time, but who chance to have, in their own barns or cellars, a store of the vegetables which are so much needed by our noble boys at the front.

All supplies sent by the Sanitary Commission will be forwarded free of transportation charges, inasmuch as the Commission own their own ships and steamers, and have to pay freight charges to no one.

All money that the donors desire to have devoted to the special object herein mentioned should be addressed to "MR. GEORGE T. STRONG, Treasurer United States Sanitary Commission, No. 823 Broadway, New-York City."

Barrels, boxes or packages of vegetables, fruits, pickles, &c., intended to supply this immediate demand, should be addressed to "The Woman's Central Relief Association, No. 10 Cooper Union, New-York City."

NEW-YORK INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND.—The annual exhibition of the New-York Institution for the Blind took place last evening, in the chapel of the Institution. Quite a large audience assembled to witness the wonderful performances of the pupils. The exercises consisted of examinations, singing and playing on the piano, and the proficiency and skill displayed by the young lads and misses was really astonishing. The institution contains at present about 185 pupils, and employs 20 teachers.

President KING then took leave of the classes, on retiring from the Presidency of the College, and introduced his successor, Rev. FREDERICK A. P. BARNARD, D. D. The following is the

FAREWELL ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT KING:

The hour is now come when I am to take my final leave as President of the College—of the members of the Board of Trustees, of my long-time associates of the faculty, and of you my young friends, graduates and sub-graduates of the college.

After a service of fifteen years, and arrived at an age which [illegible] repose, the Trustees have been pleased to accept my resignation, and to appoint Rev. FREDERICK A. P. BARNARD my successor, whom it will be my pleasure to introduce to you here. I do not renounce associations and duties which have been so attractive to me without many feelings of regret. A regret, however, softened by the memories I shall carry with me, of the harmony and kindness of our past intercourse, and by the hope that I may in the future still hold a friendly place in your regard.

To you, gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, I render my thanks for the readiness and confidence with which you have supported me in the performance of my duties. Of you, my honored associates of the Faculty, I may now say what before might not have seemed quite allowable, that with such a corps of teachers, there is little excuse for any shortcoming on the part of students, and less for any on the part of the President, whose duties their zeal and intelligence so much lighten. While of you, graduates and sub-graduates of the college, I may declare, as the result of all my experience, that to no man, in my judgment, can be confided a duty more honorable, more self-rewarding or more enviable, than that of assisting to form and to train such natures to knowledge, honor and truth.

It is not, indeed, all sunshine. The path is not always plain and clear of difficulties; for here, as elsewhere, the frailties of our imperfect humanity play their part, just as well with teachers as with learners; but after all deductions, the relations of the President of this college to its pupils must be one of noble aspirations and inspirations. I say of this college, because of this I can judge, and because I regard our system in which the refinements, the restraints and the affections of home are so admirably combined with the instructions and discipline of this college, as affording to generous natures and well-ordered dispositions the best opportunities for good education.

To the class that now goes forth I bid a cordial God-speed! They are the last whom it will be my fortune to avouch to the world as well-deserving; and I may say, in all truth, that no one of the classes that have preceded them in my day was more deserving. In the battle of life upon which they are about to enter they will quit themselves manfully and skillfully—I hope, too, for each and all, successfully.

In separating myself from the college I shall not, and could not if I would, separate myself from interest in the welfare of those with whom I have there been associated, and I shall ever watch with some personal solicitude the progress of our Alumni, and rejoice with the joy of friendship in whatever may honor them, and through them the generous institution from which they proceed. All hail! then, my young friends, and farewell!

And now, Sir, to you who are to succeed to the high office which I am about to leave, let me offer my most cordial congratulations. Familiar as you are with the duties of chief officer of a university, it would be at once presumptuous and unnecessary for me to advert in any manner to the nature of those duties. Success elsewhere is the sure guaranty of success here. I may be permitted, however, to bear my testimony to the excellence of the material with which you will have to deal, and the expression of my conviction that, with such acknowledged abilities, attainments and experience as you will bring to the fashioning of this material, there can be only good results.

I therefore now resign my office into your hands, presenting to you the charter, statutes and by-laws of the college, and in the name and by the authority of the trustees, I salute you as President of Columbia College, and as such I present you to the students and to this goodly assembly.

Rev. Dr. BARNARD then came forward and spoke as follows:

REPLY OF REV. DR. BARNARD.

I accept, Mr. President, with unfeigned diffidence, the weighty responsibility, which, after a protracted period of honorable and successful service, you have chosen to lay aside, and which the Board of Trustees of Columbia College have seen fit to confide to me as your successor. Though, by your long and faithful labors in the educational field you have fairly earned your title to repose, I feel assured that you will be followed in your retirement by the sincerest regrets of all the friends of Columbia College, and by their most fervent wishes and prayers for your continued welfare. Suitably to fill the place which you have left vacant, I feel to be an undertaking at once difficult and delicate. Should the success attend me which your kindness has prompted you to predict, it will be principally, without doubt, because I shall enjoy the counsel and coöperation of the able and distinguished colleagues by whom you have been surrounded, as well as the support and encouragement of an enlightened Board of Trustees, who watch over the interests of this noble institution with a vigilance which never slumbers and a zeal which never tires. Nor do I count it as among the least, by any means, of the encouragements which the prospect before me presents, that I shall here meet a band of youthful aspirants after knowledge, animated by elevated and generous sentiments, distinguished for gentlemanly demeanor, and imbued with the ennobling love of letters. Under such circumstances, and favored by such advantages, I trust that Columbia College may continue to be what she has ever hitherto been, a nursery of sound learning and a school of thorough intellectual training. I trust that she may continue to foster, no less assiduously than heretofore, the love of that noble literature of antiquity, which has ever been esteemed the indispensable basis of finished scholarship; and that she may at the same time open wide the way to those rich treas-

[illegible] of science which the tireless spirit of modern [illegible] has wrung from nature by the direct [illegible] of the glorious works of God. I trust that, while firmly holding fast that which is good of the accumulated learning of the past, she may show herself equally alive to the splendor of the intellectual triumphs which distinguish and illustrate the present; and may even take rank as a positive participant in those grand movements of progress by which the boundaries of human knowledge are extended, and the human race itself lifted to a higher level in the scale of being.

To secure the fulfilment of these anticipations, my most earnest efforts shall be unceasingly directed. And [illegible] known and well-tested abilities of the gentlemen who will be associated with me in my labors, [illegible] secure guaranty against any possibility of failure which might be a consequence of my own conscious deficiencies.

Perhaps it may be permitted me here to add that, in making this City my residence, I do not feel that I come altogether as a stranger. It was here that my active life began, and though since that day I have wandered far and tarried long, my heart has never wandered from the scenes made dear to it by early associations; and in returning at length to this my starting point, I feel like one who has found a long-lost home.

But I trespass too far upon the patience of this assembly, already tired of the protracted though interesting exercises of the day. Permit me, therefore, to conclude by offering to you, Mr. President, to the gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, to the gentlemen of the Faculty, to the alumni and undergraduates of the college, and to you, citizens of this great metropolis, whom I claim the privilege of henceforth addressing as my fellow-citizens, my most respectful salutations."

The benediction was then pronounced, after which the audience retired, the band playing "Hail Columbia."

Right of Colored People to Ride in the Street Cars—Important Case.

The case of ELLEN ANDERSON, the widow of Sergeant ANDERSON, of Company F, in the Twenty-sixth Colored Regiment, who was forcibly ejected by Police Officer TYLER from one of the cars of the Eighth-avenue Railroad, came before the Police Commissioners this (Wednesday) morning, a charge of assault having been preferred at her instance against the officer, and of breaking the police regulations. Mr. CHARLES E. WHITEHEAD, Attorney, acting for WILLIAM CURTIS NOYES, Esq., counsel, appeared for the complainant.

Mrs. Ellen Anderson, a respectable looking woman, attired in deep mourning, was then sworn. She said: I am a widow of Sergt. Anderson, of Company F, Twenty-sixth Regiment, who died in discharge of his duty at Beaufort, South Carolina; I was going up home and standing at the corner of Broadway, when car No. 2 of the Eighth-avenue railroad came up; I got in; the conductor came up and said I could not ride in it; I told him I was sick and wished to go home; he said there would be another car along soon; I told him I wished to ride in that; he started up and put his hands on me; I told him not to touch me; then he went out and brought in a policeman; this is the man here; he came in and told me there would be another car along soon; I said I knew nothing about another car, and had a right to ride there as well as any where else; he said I could not ride and must go out, and then got hold of me and dragged me, and called to the conductor for assistance; the conductor came, and they got me off the seat; I got hold of the straps of the car and then they both pulled me and dragged me so that I was very sore, and they tore my hand and at last succeeded in dragging me into the street; the conductor said he did not care for me or my husband; I had money to with me to pay my fare; no one asked me for any money; I had a basket in my hand.

Cross-examination by defendant simply elicited a repetition of the above statement.

C. A. Runkle, Esq., lawyer, confirmed the complainant's statement as to the manner of her ejection, and the parties engaged in it, and in answer to a question by defendant, said there was no more violence used than was necessary to take her out.

J. P. Cumming, Esq., a director of the Eighth-avenue Railroad, said there was no order of the Board excluding colored citizens from the use of the Eighth-avenue Railroad cars, and on cross-examination, said he did not know there were signs on the road saying colored people were allowed to ride in certain cars only. No orders had been issued by the Board to the conductors to reject colored people.

E. G. Brown, Esq., merchant, also corroborated complainant's evidence; she was dragged by the wrist out the cars; there was no unnecessary violence used.

Isaac Sweet, conductor of the car, was then called by TYLER as witness for the defence. His statement differed but little from that of Mrs. ANDERSON; the conductors had orders to remove colored people; that was the understanding; Col. MAY, the Superintendent of the road, gave these orders to eject colored people.

Cross-examined by Mr. Whitehead—Col. MAY never directed me personally to turn colored persons out of the cars; I never received any letter or writing from him directing me to do so; it was not in the printed books, but I supposed it was the rule of the road.

By the Court—Col. MAY never ordered me; I presumed it was an order; I never received it, and took it for granted that colored people could not ride in all the cars; there are cars specially for colored people; white people can ride in those cars if they please, but colored people could not ride with the white folks.

Police officer TYLER then made a statement to the court that he was stationed at the corner of the street. The conductor of the car came up and said there was a colored woman in the car, and asked me to remove her; I went in and asked her to remove, and said the next car was for colored people; she then said, "I am as good as any white people;" the conductor then came up and said he must go on; I put my hand upon her, and she took hold of the straps; I asked the conductor to assist me, and we took her out.

By Mr. Whitehead—I had no orders except from the conductor.

By the Court—If a man had come in with gray hair, I should not have put him out.

In reply to a question from the Court, Mr. WHITEHEAD stated that his object was only to test the right of the police to interfere in these matters. They had no vindictive feeling against the officer, who, he dare say, imagined he was doing his duty; but similar cases had been before the courts before, and were always decided in favor of the colored appellants, and they simply wanted such a punishment inflicted as the board would deem necessary to prevent the recurrence of such scandals. He appeared there for a number of gentlemen whose feelings had often been much shocked by these fracas in the street cars, sometimes at the very moment the colored regiments were marching down the streets on their way to the war.

Mr. Commissioner ACTON then said he was very sorry such a good officer as the defendant had got himself into such a scrape. It was his duty to preserve the peace, and there was no breach of the peace until he broke it. It was rather his duty to have arrested the conductor than the woman, if he was breaking the peace. He didn't care what he supposed; he ought to exhibit some common sense in these matters. There was no law against these people riding in the cars, and they had no right to make such a law; nor was there any order requiring policemen to do the work of these conductors.

The final disposal of the case was then left for the full board to pass such sentence as they may deem necessary.

On the heels of this trial, the Superintendent of the Eighth-avenue road issued the following:

OFFICE OF THE EIGHTH-AVENUE RAILROAD CO., }
TUESDAY, June 28, 1864. }

Hereafter colored people are allowed to ride in all the cars, both small and large, of this company.

C. A. MAY,
Superintendent Eighth-avenue Railroad Co.

Five Points House of Industry.

Several changes have been made at this institution, which very much improve the premises. A new building, 50 by 100 feet, has been erected on the west side, which is sufficient to accommodate any anticipated increase of applicants, and relieve the over-crowded rooms of the old house. The new structure will be two stories in height, the first story to be used as a play-room for the children during inclement weather, the second as a chapel and school-room. The school-room will be divided into a primary and secondary department, of four classes each. Most of the scholars now instructed in the school-rooms of the old building will be transferred to the new apartments. A new feature has been introduced by the Trustees of the Mission, the purpose of which is to provide for women who owing to habits of dissipation or indigence are unable to take care of themselves. Several such have recently been added to the "family." The families of soldiers, when suffering from want or neglect, are properly cared for, and for those who are able to work employment is found. The new structure stands immediately over Cow Bay—so named from the fact that until 1770 a small stream of water, running through Centre-street, formed itself into a pond near Worth-street. Here the vagrant cows of the neighborhood quenched their thirst until the days when improvement drained the pool and filled it. The Five Points House of Industry, which is under the Superintendence of Mr. S. B. HALLIDAY, was never in a more flourishing condition than at present.

Reception of the Twelfth Massachusetts Regiment.

The Twelfth Massachusetts Regiment, Col. BATES, will probably arrive in this City this evening. This regiment is familiarly known as the Hallelujah Regiment, the song of "Glory Hallelujah" having been dedicated to the late Col. FLETCHER WEBSTER, its original Commander. The Ninth New-York, formerly brigaded with the Twelfth Massachusetts, have tendered an escort to their old comrades upon their arrival here, through a letter from Col. CHALMERS to Col. HOWE, the Massachusetts State Agent, the courtesy of which has been accepted. The Twelfth numbers less than 200 men.

Meeting of the Managers.

At a meeting of the Managers of New-York, held at the residence of Mr. WALLACK, in Fourteenth-street, on Tuesday, June 28, it was unanimously resolved that Mr. JAMES W. WALLACK be elected President, Mr. W. STUART, Secretary. The subject of the recent increased demands of the musicians being brought before the meeting, it was resolved, on the proposition of Mr. WHEATLEY, seconded by Mr. MAX MARETZEK, the managers being desirous to act in a liberal and generous spirit, are prepared to accede to the demands of the musicians for a renewed increase of salary to $14 a week for the theatres, and $5 50 for every opera performance, on the distinct understanding that the musicians agree to abide by this, their present demand, for the season of 1864-'65, and not again require any additional increase. It was further resolved that the salary of leader of orchestra shall be a matter of private arrangement between managers and leaders.

The French Mail Steamship Washington.

STEAMSHIP WASHINGTON, June 28, 1864.

The undersigned, passengers on the first trip of the steamer Washington, have great pleasure in returning to Capt. DUCHESNE and officers their sincere thanks for the uniform courtesy with which they have been treated during their very pleasant passage between Havre and New-York. Rarely have they had opportunity to record a greater display of liberality, efficiency and decorum than has distinguished every officer and servant of the General Transatlantic Company.

Despite adverse winds and rough weather, the vessel has made a short and easy passage; the accommodations have been of a superior character, and that quiet affability, which, more than any physical attention, makes of a floating population a household, and of a ship a home, has so far been manifested that no ennui has marked the trip, and the end of the voyage has been a subject of regret rather than of congratulation.

With many thanks to Capt. DUCHESNE and his officers, we subscribe ourselves, very cheerfully,

SOMETHING ABOUT BITTERS.

"The advertising columns of newspapers are full of 'Bitters,' which trap the unwary into the purchase of a very poor article of flavored Whisky or Rum, and the use of which leads thousands every year into an appetite for ardent spirits. Such is not the character of the CRIMEAN BITTERS. The article has been thoroughly tested in the United States Hospital in this city, and unanimously approved by the surgeons and ward physicians, and by eminent physicians of our city, while we have ourselves been witnesses of their remarkable tonic and restorative effects. In one respect it is a most original compound, viz., that although they pleasantly exhilarate, no stupefying effect follows, called reaction. Hence, for the debilitated and sedentary, nothing else can equal them. We can assure our readers that they may purchase them with entire confidence, for reports come to us from every side of their efficacy for DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, CHOLERA MORBUS, INDIGESTION, NAUSEA, FLATULENCE, SICK HEADACHE, LOSS OF APPETITE, &c., &c."—*Newark (N. CATARRH CURED.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is represented to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be resting in his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

DEAFNESS CURED.

From the Tribune.

EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homeopathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lent us ears as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We need not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation as skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.

SIGHT RESTORED.

CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result, either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment, we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves by more particular inquiries that the doctor is no empiric, but a scientific oculist and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge is very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic, inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues, and threatening, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Opthalmitis, is the term we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the tendencies which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps pace with these tendencies, if not in advance of them.

"You have hit the mark again, and have got a great book in

LINNET'S TRIAL.

It's the most delightful novel I have read since "Twice Lost"—not the slightest repetition, but as fresh, piquant, with a great deal more character in it.

That opening chapter—isn't it jolly—and the Picnic; I had a hearty laugh over both, and have read them to others, who are crazy to read the whole.

LINNET—Vere's sweet bird of song, what a charming woman, how marvellous her power, how enduring her love; and Rose, how she amused me.

Mark my words, when this gets known and talked up, it will have immense popularity, as

IT HAS NO EQUAL."

One whose judgment can be relied on says this, and every one who has read LINNET gives it unqualified praise.

IT WILL BE THE BOOK OF THE SEASON.

$2,000,000 LOAN
OF THE COUNTY OF NEW-YORK.

Subscriptions are hereby invited to a loan of two million dollars, authorized by an ordinance of the Board of Supervisors, approved by the Mayor June 15, 1864, entitled an ordinance to provide for the procurement of volunteers for the armies of the Union, as part and parcel of the quota of the City and County of New-York, under any future call of the President for men."

The proper books for such subscriptions will be opened at the Comptroller's office on and after SATURDAY, the 18th of June, instant, and will remain open until the whole sum shall be taken.

Subscribers will be required to deposit with the County Treasurer, at the Broadway Bank, within five days after entering their subscriptions, the amount subscribed for by them respectively, and on presenting his receipts for the money to the Comptroller, they will receive bonds of the County for equal amounts, redeemable on or before June 1, 1865, with interest from the date of payment, at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

Our fellow-citizens and the public generally are respectfully invited to coöperate with the Board of Supervisors in the benevolent and patriotic purpose of supplying the quota of men from this County, on the call of the President for more men for the army, soon to be made public, without resorting to a draft for that purpose. Action will not be taken to raise volunteers under the ordinance referred to, until a sufficient amount is subscribed to warrant the Committee in proceeding in this matter.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A TREATISE ON DISEASES OF THE SEXUAL SYSTEM, with an appendix; views on Mr. Syme's new method of treating stricture. By EDWARD H. DIXON, M.D. Ninth edition. Price $1.

EVERARDUS WARNER,
No. 2 Vesey-st., Astor House.

From the New-York Journal of Medicine and Collateral Sciences.

"It is written in a clear, nervous style, and is calculated, as we think, to do much good. The descriptions are accurately drawn, and the remedial measures judicious. The practitioner will find it abounding in valuable hints, and the general reader will come across many useful cautions and premonitory warnings."

From the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Dr. Dixon has written much and well on various branches of surgery; his book shows a thorough acquaintance with modern practice; stricture, varicocele, hydrocele and fistula are particularly well treated of. Indeed he has managed to secure attention to every page in this volume, an art that few medical writers possess.

"The author's acknowledged originality and thorough devotion to the rational principles of medicine, and his ingenuity under trying surgical circumstances, stamp it with more than ordinary interest."—London Lancet.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

THE WEBER PIANO FORTE

Is admitted the best piano forte made, because the maker, beside being a practical mechanic of long experience, is also a thorough musician, thus combining advantages possessed by no other manufacturer in the United States. Such is the testimony of S. B. Mills, Robert Heller, Geo. F. Bristow, Wm. Mason, C. Jerome Hopkins, Chas. Fradel, Max Maretzek, Carl Anschutz, John Zundel, Maurice Strakosch, Giovani Sconcia, and every good musician in the United States. All musical ears at once admit their great superiority. Warerooms No. 155 West Broadway, near Canal-st.

HAZLETON BROTHERS,

OVERSTRUNG GRAND AND SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MANUFACTURERS.

THE CALENBERG & VAUPEL PIANOS.

"They are unsurpassed for volume and sweetness of tone, elasticity of touch and durability; they are perfect and superior to any others made in this country, &c., &c."—Testimonial of the most celebrated artists. Warranted for six years. Warerooms Nos. 99 and 101 Bleecker-st., two blocks west of Broadway.

HAINES BROTHERS,

PIANO-FORTE MANUFACTURERS.

PIANOS TO LET AND FOR SALE
ON INSTALLMENTS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $550 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

the military service since the report was made. They did not know of a breath of slander against them.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, (Union,) said several of the parties charged with improper conduct were thousands of miles away from the commission, and knew nothing of the charges against them. He caused to be read letters exonerating Col. Slack from what are characterized as false and slanderous charges.

Mr. Grimes moved the indefinite postponement of further proceedings as to printing the report. His reason for the motion was that the military commission appointed by the War Department reported on mere hearsay and ex parte testimony, without giving a hearing to those implicated in loose charges, and who were not aware at the time there were charges against them.

Mr. Grimes' motion was agreed to.

THE RELIEF OF SPENCER KELLOGG'S WIDOW.

Mr. Foster, of Connecticut, (Union,) reported the House bill for the relief of Mary Kellogg, whose husband was hanged as a spy in Richmond. She is to draw a navy pension on his account. It was passed.

THE FRENCH-MEXICAN QUESTION.

Mr. Sumner, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Committee on Foreign Relations to whom was referred the message of the President and the accompanying documents heretofore communicated in relation to Mexican affairs, and involving the question concerning the conduct of France, said so far as the Committee had examined the documents, they were unable to affirm whether they were of sufficient importance to justify their publication. As a subject of printing he moved it be referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. Anthony thought the Committee on the Judiciary would be the proper reference.

Mr. Wade, of Ohio, (Union,) said these documents were more valuable than two-thirds of the documents ordinarily printed. He could not understand why they should not be printed. To suppress the publication would give rise to suspicion that something was wrong, when there may not be.

Mr. Cowan, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said that nobody would read them if printed. The people have something else to think about just now.

Mr. Sumner explained that the reason which influenced the Committee on Foreign Affairs was one of economy, and the Committee on Printing was a proper one to examine the subject.

Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) thought no documents could be more valuable than those relative to Mexico.

REISSUE OF LOST BONDS.

The Committee on Foreign Affairs was then discharged from the subject, which was referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. Van Winkle, of West Virginia, (Union,) from the Committee on Finance, reported a bill to provide for the re-issue of certain lost bonds to Adams' Express Company.

THE ARKANSAS SENATORS.

On motion of Mr. Trumbull, the resolution declaring Messrs. Fishback and Baxter not entitled to seats as Senators from Arkansas, was taken up.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, (Union,) desired the postponement of the resolution until December next, although he thought the question ought to be settled before Congress adjourned. This was a Presidential year. If the Senate should adjourn without action upon the resolution, and the election should be decided void, after such votes as had been cast by the loyal men in Arkansas and Louisiana, the people thus defeated there might not be satisfied with the result, and might not be disposed to submit to it. He deemed the question pregnant with civil war.

Mr. Ten Eyck, of New-Jersey, (Union,) said that if there was a Senator more anxious than himself to see Arkansas and Louisiana restored to the Union he would like to see him, but there was no doubt that Arkansas was still in a state of rebellion. He would like to admit gentlemen of so much respectability as the claimants, but the President, by authority of law, had proclaimed that State in a condition of rebellion, and the decree had not been changed. He urged the immediate settlement of the question.

Mr. Nesmith, of Oregon, (Union,) held that Arkansas and the other so-called seceded States were as much in the Union as ever. He did not acknowledge in any view the doctrine of secession, but it was a question under existing circumstances whether these gentlemen were the legal representatives of Arkansas. One of them having voted for the ordinance of secession, he would not admit him.

Mr. Trumbull, of Illinois, (Union,) said the Judiciary Committee had purposely avoided the question whether Arkansas was in or out of the Union, or whether any law was necessary to bring her into the Union, as a controverted question. They ought to leave it to the future. He hoped to dispose of this one issue without involving discussion upon the other.

Mr. Wade, of Ohio, (Union,) moved to postpone the Arkansas question and take up the House bill making provision for the whole subject of the reorganization of the rebel States. That bill would settle the whole controversy in regard to Arkansas as well as other States.

Mr. Trumbull suggested that were this bill passed, the admission of the Arkansas claimants would still be the question.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, (Union,) declared himself as one of those who believed that the loyal people of any State, without regard to numbers, constituted the State, and could resume State Government at any time. The loyal people of Arkansas had elected a loyal Legislature, which had elected these loyal Senators. He hoped that the motion of Mr. Wade would prevail. He would not make war upon the people of a State for coming back into the Union, but he would for going out of the Union. He hoped that nothing would be done here to wound the loyal sentiment of Arkansas.

Mr. Saulsbury, of Delaware, (Dem.,) hoped yet to see a party in power who would recognize the doctrine that both Arkansas and South Carolina are still in the Union, and who would declare that ordinances of secession are a nullity, and not merely voidable, but void. But these gentlemen came here claiming to represent a new State made by the proclamation of the man who sits enthroned at the other end of the avenue. The President has made war upon the Constitution by setting up a Government unknown to that instrument. No representatives like these should be admitted here.

Mr. Buckalew, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) opposed taking up the bill proposed by Mr. Wade, which would launch this body upon a wide ocean of debate.

Mr. Wade expressed a determination that these questions should be squarely met. So far as he was concerned he was alarmed at the indications of haste and the disposition to shirk important legislation. He would as soon desert the camp of the soldier as leave this chamber with important duties unfinished, and would regard such desertion as equally disgraceful.

The vote being taken Mr. Wade's motion was lost —yeas 5, nays 28.

Messrs. Clark, Harlan, Lane of Kansas, Sherman and Wade voting yea.

Mr. Howe, of Wisconsin, (Union,) spoke against the exclusion of claimants, holding that by such exclusion the rights of the people of Arkansas were abrogated and nullified.

Mr. Trumbull said the point at issue was not whether Arkansas had a right to representation, but whether there has been any election by the Legislature of Arkansas.

Mr. Carlile, of Virginia, (Dem.,) argued that 12,000 voters could not assume to act for the people of Arkansas. He concurred with the Senator from Kansas in the doctrine that the State Government belonged to the loyal people of the State, but there were thirty-four counties unrepresented. He declared that the amendment of the Constitution of that State was not legally made, and that there was nothing to prove that more than 12,000 loyal people were unrepresented in the State Goverment.

The resolution declaring Messrs. Fishback and Baxter not entitled to seats as Senators from Arkansas was then passed by Yeas 27, Nays 6, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Brown, Buckalew, Carlile, Chandler, Clark, Cowan, Davis, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Hale, Harlan, Harris, McDougall, Morgan, Morrill, Powell, Ramsay, Riddle, Saulsbury, Sherman, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Wade, Wilkinson.

Nays—Messrs. Doolittle, Hicks, Howe, Lane, Nesmith, Pomeroy.

THE PENSION ACT.

On motion of Mr. Foster, the bill in amendment of the Pension Act of July 14, 1862, was taken up. He stated that 15,000 cases would be relieved by the provisions of this bill.

The committee's amendment extending to the wives and children of colored soldiers the benefits of this bill, without further proof than the fact that the parties have lived together for two years, was adopted.

Other amendments were agreed to, and the bill was passed.

REIMBURSEMENT FOR WAR EXPENSES.

Mr. Cowan, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) called up the bill to reimburse Pennsylvania for the expenses of the militia in the rebel invasion of last year.

Mr. Ten Eyck offered a substitute to include a similar reimbursement of New-York and New-Jersey, and appropriating $1,200,000 for that purpose.

THE TARIFF BILL.

Mr. Fessenden, of Maine, (Union,) from the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing amendments to the Tariff Bill, made some recommendations. They were not read; but Mr. Fessenden explained that raw cotton was exempted from duty. On brimstone the Senate receded; on spices the Senate receded in part, most kinds being advanced 5 cents. Clove stems reduced 10 cents; on salt, 18 to [illegible] cents. The report was adopted.

Mr. Conness, of California, (Union,) by unanimous consent, introduced a bill to provide for the sale of mineral lands, and extend the right of preemption thereto.

REIMBURSEMENT AGAIN.

The consideration of the bill to reimburse Pennsylvania being resumed,

Mr. Sherman, of Ohio, (Union,) submitted an amendment, striking out "Pennsylvania," making the bill general, and paying all the militia engaged in repelling the invasion of Pennsylvania; or, where they have been paid, refunding to the Governor of the State to which they belonged, in trust for the State, or institution, or individual, who advanced money to the State. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. Ten Eyck withdrew his substitute.

THE ENROLLMENT BILL.

Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Military Committee, reported the House bill further to regulate and provide for the National Militia.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD BILL.

The President pro tem. appointed Messrs. Harlan, Foster and Conness a Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate on the Pacific Railroad Bill, and Messrs. Doolittle, Harris and Nesmith on the Northern Pacific Route Bill.

Leave of absence was granted to Mr. Collamer on account of protracted illness; also to Mr. Grimes.

HUMILIATION AND PRAYER.

On motion of Mr. Harlan, of Iowa, (Union,) the following joint resolution was adopted:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States be requested to appoint a day for humiliation and prayer by the people of the United States, that he request his constitutional advisers at the head of the Executive Departments to unite with him, as the Chief Magistrate of the nation at the City of Washington, and the members of Congress, and all magistrates, all civil, military and naval officers, all soldiers, sailors and marines, with all loyal and law-abiding people to convene at their usual places of worship, or wherever they may be, to confess and to repent of their manifold sins, to implore the compassion and forgiveness of the Almighty, that if consistent with his will the existing rebellion may be speedily suppressed and the supremacy of the Constitution and laws of the United States may be established throughout all the States; to implore him as the Supreme Ruler not to destroy us as a people, nor suffer us to be destroyed by the hostility or connivance of other nations or by obstinate adhesion to our own counsels which may be in conflict with His eternal purposes; and to implore Him to enlighten the mind of the nation to know and do His will, humbly believing that it is in accordance with His will that our place should be maintained as an united people among the family of nations; to implore Him to grant to our armed defenders and the masses of the people that courage, power of resistance and endurance necessary to secure that result; to implore Him in His infinite goodness to soften the hearts, enlighten the minds, and quicken the consciences of those in rebellion, that they may lay down their arms and speedily return to their allegiance to the United States, that they may not be utterly destroyed, that the effusion of blood may be stayed, and that unity and fraternity may be restored and peace established throughout all our borders.

The Senate then took a recess until 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. Foster, of Connecticut, (Union,) called up the bill relating to the law of evidence in the District of Columbia, which was passed.

SUPPRESSION OF NEWSPAPERS.

Mr. Powell, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) moved to postpone prior orders, and take up the joint resolution, as follows:

Whereas, A military order has recently been issued in the State of Kentucky, prohibiting the circulation in said State of the Cincinnati Inquirer, a newspaper printed and published in Cincinnati, Ohio; and,

Whereas, A free press is essential to maintain the rights and liberties of the people, therefore

Resolved, That the President be requested to cause the aforesaid order to be revoked, and that the President be further requested to issue such orders as will prevent the military authorities from encroaching upon the freedom of the press in future.

Mr. Cowan, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) professed no knowledge of the Cincinnati Inquirer—did not know what it contained, and did not care, but he had come to the conclusion to oppose this infringement of rights in the future. The people might read what they pleased, and say what they pleased, but not do what they pleased. If this could not be allowed, there was an end to free Government. The power that exercises this tyranny weakens itself. Such expedients are not only useless but mischievous. He trusted that the Senate would say that it was a representative of the people not their master.

The President said a general debate was not in order on a motion to take up.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, (Union,) said the order was issued by Gen. Burbridge. He was a brave and gallant Kentuckian. It was at the time of the John Morgan raid, two weeks ago. He had no doubt that the paper was then doing more to aid the enemy, and deluge the country with blood, than all the armed rebels in Kentucky. Gen. Burbridge had a right to issue such orders, and he was unworthy of his command if he did not exercise it. Suppose a rebel spy should go into Gen. Burbridge's camp, and publish a secession paper. If this power was not lodged in the military Commander, he could not be ejected. He was not prepared to vote either that this order should be revoked, or that no similar order should be issued. We had dealt too leniently with the treasonable press. No Power on earth could exist if treason could thus be allowed to erect its head in the midst of our armies.

Mr. Cowan said that the soldier had a right to say what he should read. He believed it was far better to trust the people than seek to control them. He did not believe that Copperhead papers had the slightest effect in seducing citizens from their loyalty, but their suppression would have an injurious effect.

Mr. Fessenden, of Maine, (Union,) remarked that this was a fine subject for declamation. But he was inquired of forty times a day to know when Congress would adjourn. He said he would now give notice that he would call any Senator to order if he was—

Mr. Powell, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) said he had read the Cincinnati Inquirer twenty-five years.

The President pro tem. said debate could not be further allowed on the merits of the resolution.

Mr. Powell attempted to proceed, but was again called to order, when he sat down, saying that he regretted that the Senator from Maine was in the Senate.

Mr. Hendricks, of Maryland, (Dem.,) appealed from the decision of the President pro tem., made a few remarks, and then withdrew his appeal.

The question was then taken and the resolution was lost by a vote of 8 yeas, against 25 nays, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Buckalew, Carlile, Cowan, Davis, Hendricks, McDougall, Powell, Riddle.

Nays—Messrs. Anthony, Chandler, Clark, Conness, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Harlan, Harris, Howe, Lane of Indiana, Lane of Kansas, Morrill, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Wade, Wilkinson.

THE ENROLLMENT BILL CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, the Senate took up the House bill further to provide for and regulate the enrolling and calling out of the National forces.

The following amendments of the committee were adopted:

Striking out the substitute in the first section which provides for bounty to volunteers, thus excluding subsitutes from the benefit of bounty.

Changing the mode of payments of bounty from one-half on being mustered in, one-fourth at the expiration of half of the term of service, and one-fourth at the end of said service, to three equal payments of one-third cash instead.

Striking out the clause which allows full bounty to persons discharged from service by wounds or sickness.

Reducing from sixty to forty days the period allowed after the call for filling the quota without draft.

Mr. Hendricks offered an amendment punishing officers by dismissal, with forfeiture of pay and allowances, for knowingly enlisting minors under 16 years of age. Adopted.

Mr. Brown, of Missouri, (Union,) represented that the entire committee did not concur in recommending this bill. On the contrary, the minority believed it fatal to the efficiency of the military system. It would be a far more expensive system than we now had. The bill was calculated, if not intended, to enlist black rather than white troops. How then should our depleted armies be filled? Not only would it be impossible to draft for forty days after the call, but more time would still be required to get our men into the field. What is wanted is a simple draft that will produce men. This bill would produce few men and require much money. It is a weak measure, and shameful is the pretext that, for the exigency of the political campaign, all this sugar coating is required. The men of the West are willing to go forward and sustain the war, as they have sustained it. They are not willing to continue their exertions, under conditions of inequality with the wealthy sections of the country. He moved to strike out the third section, which permitted the Executives of States to send agents into States in rebellion to recruit volunteers. This was adopted.

Mr. Sherman moved to amend the amendment by inserting the words "duty of the President," instead of "lawful for the Executive of any of the States," and providing that such recruits may be organized, armed and equipped according to existing laws, and receive the bounty, pay and pensions prescribed for other troops in the military service of the United States.

Mr. Grimes believed that with such a bill as this was, when first introduced, there would not be obtained a single white soldier and but few colored soldiers. He had opposed the commutation, believing every citizen owed his property, personal services and life, if necessary, to his country. Under this bill a person could buy a negro for fifty dollars, enlist him, receive four hundred dollars and pocket $350 by the operation. He characterized it as a wild and suicidal scheme.

Mr. Ten Eyck favored the amendment of the Senator from Ohio, unamended. He believed disgraceful scenes would result. If white men had to depend upon the procuration of slaves to fight out the contest, he feared the battle would be lost. He believed there was national honor enough to furnish the necessary troops to save the country.

Mr. Powell, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) opposed any permission to aid in filling the quota of any State from insurrectionary districts. He declared it unequal, iniquitous and unjust.

On motion of Mr. Sherman a Committee of Conference was appointed on the disagreeing amendment to the Civil Appropriation Bill.

Mr. McDougall, of California, (Dem.,) asked if upon us whites sins had so accumulated that we must make sacrifice of hecatombs of negroes? The people of the North were as brave and noble as ever lived. If these blacks were placed in the front of battle by such an exercise of tyranny, let it not be in the name of liberty. He opposed this provision.

Mr. Sherman introduced the following new section:

And be it further enacted, that for the purpose of paying the bounties and of enforcing the draft provided for in this act, there shall be levied and collected, in addition to the duties imposed by law, a special duty of ten per centum on all incomes exceeding $600, which duty shall be assessed and collected in the mode provided in the act entitled An Act to provide internal revenue to support the Government, to pay the interest on the public debt and for other purposes, and the duty shall be payable on the 1st day of October next, and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations, as to the time and mode of assessment, as will secure the collection of this special tax.

Mr. Sherman said this tax was absolutely necessary. It was folly to pass this bill without providing means for the payment of these heavy bounties.

After a desultory debate, Mr. Sherman agreed to modify his amendment, making the special war tax five instead of ten per cent, and it was then adopted by the following vote of 25 yeas against 7 nays:

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Brown, Chandler, Clark, Conness, Doolittle, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Hale, Harlan, Howe, Lane of Indiana, Lane of Kansas, Morgan, Pomeroy, Ramsay, Sherman, Sprague, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Wade, Wilkinson, Willey, Wilson.

Nays—Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Harris, Hendricks, McDougall, Powell, Riddle.

Mr. Powell offered an amendment, the object of which he explained to be to confine each State to recruiting within its own limits, which was agreed to.

The bill, as amended, was reported to the Senate, and passed.

The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, Wednesday, June 29.

PRIZE MONEY.

The House concurred in the Senate's amendments to the bill regulating prize proceedings and the distribution of prize money.

DISLOYAL CLERKS IN THE DEPARTMENTS.

Mr. Cole, of California, (Union,) asked leave to offer a resolution instructing the Committee on the Conduct of the War to inquire whether any disloyal clerks are employed in the War Department, and whether rebels are employed in any capacity, and if so, who is responsible for the same; but objection was made.

MR. SCHENCK'S CASE.

Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Committee on Elections, called up the resolution, that Mr. Schenck, having resigned his commission as Major-General before the commencement of this session of Congress, was not, by reason of his having held such military commission, disqualified from membership in this House; but that Mr. Blair, of Missouri, having held his commission as Major-General after the commencement of this session did thereby decline and disqualify himself from holding his seat. The resolution was adopted.

THE ARKANSAS ELECTION CASES.

Mr. Dawes called up the report of the Committee of Elections postponing the admission of the Representatives elect from Arkansas, until a commission can proceed thither and inquire into and report all the facts at the next session. He asked that one of that delegation be heard for fifteen minutes in behalf of their people.

Mr. Cox, of Ohio, (Dem.,) objected to this request, being opposed to action at this time; he feared, too, there might be some covert design.

Mr. Dawes replied that nothing of unfair advantage as to electoral votes could be taken under his resolution, which merely proposed such action as will enable the House to obtain full information upon which to act.

Mr. Blair, of Virginia, (Union,) hoped the gentleman from Ohio (Cox) would withdraw his objection. These gentlemen from Arkansas should be heard before they are kicked out of this hall. Nothing should be done to favor the interests of Jeff. Davis.

Mr. Cox said that such remarks were beyond common decency, but they came from the member from West Virginia, (Blair.)

Mr. Blair supposed that the gentleman (Cox) did not recognize West Virginia as a State.

Mr. Dawes resumed the floor.

The resolutions of the Committee on Elections were read.

They authorize the President to appoint a commission of three members, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, not residents of the States involved in the present rebellion, whose duty it shall be, in the recess, to permit such States, declared by proclamation of the President to be in rebellion, and which have already, or may before the next session take measures to reëstablish a State Government, and, after an investigation and hearing of the testimony, to report at an early day whether the local people have succeeded in reëstablishing a State Government, to what extent they are represented, and whether they have the power to maintain themselves against domestic violence, and until Congress shall be satisfied by the evidence submitted to them that the rebellion had been suppressed and a Republican form of Government established, prohibiting the existence of domestic Slavery and maintaining itself against domestic violence, such State should not be entitled to representation in either branch of Congress.

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin, (Dem.,) from the minority of the Committee on Elections, advocated the resolutions offered by him as a substitute, declaring: First, that the Acts of Secession were nullities; second, that they neither change the status of the States nor the relations of the citizens and the Government; third, that whenever the authority of the United States is completely restored over any State, the State is entitled to be represented in Congress; fourth, that the only questions to be entertained by this House in regard to the members from Arkansas are, first, whether the authority of the United States was completely reëstablished in the districts, and second, whether, in an election held according to the laws and the Constitution, they received a vote of the majority of the voters.

Mr. Brown, in the course of his remarks, said that in conducting this war we should not neglect efforts at conciliation. He did not propose terms of peace to Jeff. Davis, who would refuse them. The war should be conducted on the basis of the Constitution and the rights of the people. He believed that the rebellion could be crushed out by force, and that we could meet all our national liabilities provided there shall be moderation and economy in our finances in connection with skill and bravery in the field.

Mr. Davis, of Maryland, (Union,) moved to lay the whole subject on the table.

Motion carried by yeas 80; nays 47.

THE CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House acted on the Senate's amendments to the Civil Appropriation Bill. The Senate had amended the appropriation of $100,000 for the detection of persons counterfeiting Treasury notes, by adding that in the courts of the United States there shall be no exclusion of witnesses on account of color, nor in civil action because he is a party to or interested in the issue tried.

Mr. Mallory, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) regarded the amendment as vicious and wrong.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said colored testimony was admitted in some of the Federal courts and excluded in others, and the object of the amendment was to make the practice uniform.

Mr. Mallory remarked, if the object was to make it uniform, he would propose an addition, that such testimony shall be taken only in the Federal courts where the State laws allow such testimony.

Mr. Stevens said that would make the practice in the Federal courts uniform, if all the State laws were alike on that subject, but they are not.

Mr. Mallory remarked the uniformity would be in making the Federal courts conform to the State laws.

The Senate's amendment was concurred in.

The Senate's amendment read that the eighth and ninth sections of the act to prohibit the importation of slaves into any port within the jurisdiction of the United States after the 1st of January, 1808, in which said sections undertake to regulate the coastwise Slave-trade, be repealed forever.

The Committee of Ways and Means recommended a concurrence.

Mr. Brooks, of New-York, (Dem.,) suggested the danger of interfering with the question of coastwise trade, which was now a monopoly in the hands of Americans exclusively. The public mind might be so agitated that changes would be made detrimental to commercial interests.

Mr. Davis remarked he believed the gentleman was mistaken as to the nature of the amendment; it only proposes to so interfere with the coastwise trade as to prevent the importation and transportation of slaves.

Mr. Mallory, of Kentucky, said if the Abolitionists could make any profits by continuing the slave-trade they would do so.

Mr. Blaine, of Maine, (Union,) said the gentleman from New-York (Brooks) would by his policy strike down protection to the navigating and commercial interests.

Mr. Brooks said that if there were free trade New-York would vastly improve in all her material interests.

Mr. Blaine replied that the gentleman would strike down the laws of navigation in order that New-York might be built up.

Mr. Cox said the advantages of the coastwise trade was a contract between the North and South. The North has broken the contract, but holds the consideration.

Mr. Blaine said a Western Confederacy was talked of.

Mr. Cox said he never heard of it.

Mr. Blaine, in the course of his remarks said, a Western Confederacy could not be set up long enough to be kicked over, without an outlet to the ocean.

Mr. Arnold, of Illinois, (Union) said the gentleman from New-York remarked some time ago, that Slavery was dead. Did he still think so?

Mr. Brooks replied, that he was no undertaker or embalmer, to bury the body of Slavery.

Mr. Arnold asked, if Slavery was dead, why continue the Slave-trade?

Mr. Brooks replied, that the gentleman, like Don Quixote, was fighting a windmill.

Mr. Arnold said, he wished Slavery was a mere shadow; he was for removing from the statute-books all traces recognizing Slavery.

Mr. Brooks, noticing some remarks of Mr. Blaine, said the latter was guilty of moral treason in saying that if the votes were taken New-York would give a majority of 30,000 votes for Jeff. Davis. This would give aid and comfort to the rebels, and be paraded in the Richmond press.

Mr. Blaine asked how would New-York decide between the Montgomery Constitution and the reëlection of President Lincoln? Would she not prefer the former?

Mr. Brooks replied she wanted the Constitution of our fathers and no other.

The debate was terminated by order of the House, when the question was taken on the Senate's amendment, which was agreed to.

The House, at 4:30, took a recess till 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

SITTING DURING THE RECESS.

On motion, it was resolved that the Committee on Public Expenditures, intrusted with the investigation of the affairs of the New-York Custom-house, be authorized to sit during the recess, with the same power and authority as hitherto exercised.

THE REGULAR ENGINEER CORPS.

The bill to organize and regulate the Engineer Corps in the regular and volunteer army was passed.

THE CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House acted upon and concurred in the action of the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, on the Senate's amendments to the Civil Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Mallory, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) had offered an amendment to the bill providing that negro testimony be only admitted in the Federal courts in the States whose laws should authorize such testimony.

This was disagreed to—47 against 66.

The Senate's amendment, to which Mr. Mallory had proposed his amendment as above, was concurred in—67 against 47.

It provides that no witness shall be excluded from Federal courts on account of color, nor in any civil suit in which such person is interested, or is a party to the suit.

THE TARIFF BILL.

Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, (Union,) made a report from the Conference Committee on the disagreeing amendment to the Tariff Bill, and it was concurred in.

Mr. Morrill said this House had done all that duty required, and the Tariff Bill would largely increase the revenue by additional taxation on tea, iron, spirits, wine, silks, crockery ware, spices, &c. In the Internal Revenue Bill, new sources of taxation have been sought out, including a tax on banks, while the taxes generally have been largely increased. He anticipated from these measures a million of dollars a day to retire the greenbacks to that extent, and establish our credit on a firm foundation.

Mr. Brooks, of New-York, (Dem.,) said as rumors were afloat, he wished to ask whether it was likely the Committee of Ways and Means would report an additional Tax Bill.

Mr. Morrill replied that so far as he knew he did not think they would.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said a request had come from the proper quarter for the passage of a bill to raise an additional eighty-five millions.

Mr. Brooks inquired what were to be the sources of taxation, and whether real estate was to be included.

Mr. Stevens replied that he had but recently received the document, and had not looked at it carefully.

THE OVERLAND MAIL CONTRACT.

The House agreed to the amendment of the Senate to the bill to extend the contract for carrying the Overland Pacific Mail.

At 10:30 the House adjourned.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 28 Forsyth-st., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

Dear Sir: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessing I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent an operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in an almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; [illegible] life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction, causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, langour, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 25th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.
